

SUNDAY DRIVERS CAN GO ON ANY ROAD IN COUNTY

Most Highways Near Appleton Fit for Travel, Road Office Says

With exception of county trunk highways recently made a part of the county trunk line system, all state and county trunk roads in Outagamie-co are now in fair condition for travel, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner.

"All roads are passable, although those recently added to the county system have a few bad places. There are being conditioned rapidly by highway patrolmen," declared Mr. Brusewitz.

"At the beginning of the week many of the county roads had numerous wet spots, but these have dried to a great extent, and the low places are being filled in. There is no reason why the motorist should not go to any part of the county in comfort," the commissioner said.

All state and trunk roads in division No. 3, which includes Outagamie, Brown, Calumet, Door, Kauwaunee, Manitowish, Marinette, Oconto, Shawano and Winnebago-co are generally in good condition for traffic, according to a report from the office of O. C. Bollman, Green Bay, highway engineer.

Only highway 55, over the little traveled road from Cedar Falls north to Langlade is in poor condition, the report states. Even this road is passable, but it is rough in places and has numerous wet spots.

Highways in Wisconsin generally are passable, but in some northern sections they are in very bad condition with prospects for worse roads in event of rain, the state highway commission announces.

LEGION GIVES FAREWELL PARTY TO CAPT. ROGERS

Capt. Fred B. Rogers, originator and director of the local legion saxophone band, will be the guest of honor at a banquet of the executive committee of the Gray Johnson post at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Conway hotel and at the regular meeting of the post which will follow. The meeting has been postponed from Monday evening until Tuesday to honor Captain Rogers and it will be held at 8 o'clock at Elk hall.

Capt. Rogers will leave Appleton in June as he has been transferred but his papers have not yet arrived and he is unable to say where he will be located. The banquet and meeting will be a farewell party for him. Harold S. Spencer will be the speaker at the regular meeting. He will tell of his travels about the world.

SPEEDER PAYS $10 FOR GOING 30 MILES AN HOUR

Lawrence Koffarnus, 720 N. Morrison-st., paid a fine of $10 and costs in municipal court Saturday morning after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding at 30 miles an hour on W. College-ave. Koffarnus was stopped by Albert Deiden Friday evening.

John Noldem, 103 W. Duane-st., was told to appear in court by Carl Radtke, motorcycle officer, at 2:30 Friday afternoon for making a "U" turn on College-ave. between Superior and Walnut-sts. He paid a fine of $1 and costs of $3.20 in municipal court Saturday morning.

WATCHMAN WATCHES GRASSFIRE AT COLLEGE

A grass fire on the hill at the rear of Lawrence College buildings on S. Union-st. caused the fire department to run about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. A call came from the home of Mrs. K. Brokaw, 210 S. Union-st., telling of the blaze but when the department arrived it was found that the grass was being burned under the direction of a watchman.

GUARDSMEN TO GET CHECKS AT DRILL

Pay checks for members of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, were received by Capt. E. F. Grundeman Thursday evening. The checks, amounting to $895.47, will be distributed to the guardsmen at the regular drill Monday evening at Armory G.

BUILDING PERMITS

Eight building permits authorizing the construction of one residence, three garages and several miscellaneous projects at an estimated cost of $15,420 were issued Friday by Walter Zschaeche, building inspector. The permits were issued to J. C. Fullman for a chicken coop at 615 N. Meade-st., Milke Farrell for a porch at 1109 W. Lawrence-st., Mrs. M. Maurer for a garage at 621 W. Lawrence-st., Appleton Tire Shop for a store front at 218 E. College-ave, E. A. Dettman for a residence and garage at 516 N. Bateman-st., William Shauger for a garage at 822 W. Commercial-st., and Mrs. Christine Goss for a porch at 1814 S. Onida-st.

Buys Grocery Store
Edward Keller formerly of the Gloudehans-Gage Co. has purchased the entire business of Schneider and Keller grocery store on N. Morrison-st. He will take possession immediately under the name of the Keller Grocery store.

G. L. Smith returned Saturday from a three day business visit at Rhineland.

AT FISCHERS APPLETON SUNDAY WITH VAUDEVILLE

ASKS $1,500 FOR DAMAGES TO CAR

Jury Trial Adjourned When Witness Fails to Appear in Court

Failure of a witness to appear Friday afternoon at the jury trial for damages brought by Fred J. Sager of the town of Greenville against Martin Alberts, Menasha, caused Judge Theodore Berg to adjourn the case until 9 o'clock Monday morning.

The suit grew out of an accident which occurred on the evening of Jan. 24, when the sedan owned by the plaintiff struck the Alberts' truck on the Appleton-Medina road, about two miles west of Appleton.

Sager, with his wife and four children, was returning home when his car struck the truck, loaded with stovewood, which had been left partly on the highway.

The Alberts' truck was abandoned without lights, the plaintiff alleges. He says the sedan was damaged to extent of $1,500 and he asks an additional $25 for medical bills incurred by Mrs. Sager and two children as the result of the accident.

In his answer the defendant admits that the truck had projected into the highway, but denies that it was abandoned without lights. The truck had broken down and had been pushed from the road as far as possible, Alberts said.

Alberts filed a counterclaim charging that the plaintiff had traveled at an excessive speed, that his car was not properly lighted, and that he did not use due care and caution. The defendant seeks $68 in his counterclaim.

IMPORTANCE OF JUTE SHOWN BY SHORT CROP

New York—(AP)—It remained for a short crop from the jute fields of Bengal, India, to impress upon the commercial world the importance of that commodity to every-day life. A recent report that the jute crop of that district was considerably below normal increased prices at Calcutta nearly 50 percent.

The shortage will affect every home to a small extent. The sacks in which sugar was shipped are made of the better grades of burlap and then there are carpets, the foundation of which are formed from good grades of burlap, and linoleum in which burlap is used as a base.

Jute is used largely in the upholstery industry and, because of its strength and durability, in automobile tops.

Burlap has become a standard wrapper for many products that do not need the protection of wooden boxes, meats from Australia and wheat from the Argentine are exported in that material. The American potato farmer also uses gunny-sacks.

The short crop of jute in India resulted in increasing the price at Calcutta from $215 a ton for the first grade on September 1, to $310 by December 1. A month later it was down to $285 a ton.

The jute industry of India is somewhat similar to cotton production in the southern part of the United States. It is grown largely by small native farmers in the Bengal district, the only place which has produced large quantities of jute of good quality. There are under cultivation between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 acres.

George Behrendt submitted to an operation at St. Vincent hospital at Green Bay last week and will be confined there for several weeks.

The Misses Ruth and Irene Ashman are spending the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hamer at Milwaukee.

Dresses in the Ladies' Home Journal Dress-making Contest should be at the Fair Store not later than 5:30 p. m. Monday.

CLASS SETS DATE FOR ITS REUNION

Seniors of 1916 Prepare to Carry Out Plans Made Ten Years Ago

July 2 and 3 were the dates set for the reunion of the class of 1916 of Appleton High school at a meeting of members of the class who reside in Appleton High school at a meeting of Northern. A dinner was served at 6:30 to about 15 members.

Registration will be held on the afternoon of July 2 and there will be a dinner dance in the evening, according to an outline of the program prepared Thursday night. A picnic will be held on July 3 at Clifton.

Committees appointed to make definite arrangements for the reunion are:

Dinner-dance—Robert DeLand, Dr. Carl Neighbold and Miss Ruth Sandborn.

Picnic—Carl Sherry, Mrs. Robert Connelly and Miss Mary Baker. Invitations and registration: Lester Ruth Saecker, George Dame, Lester Balliet, Miss Ethel Carter and Miss Decima Jane Salisbury.

George Dame is chairman of the finance committee and will appoint his own committee.

This is the first reunion held by the class. When the class graduated in 1916 it was decided to hold a reunion in 1926.

MOTORCYCLE POLICE GET ROAD ASSIGNMENTS

Outagamie-co motorcycle officers began policing state and county trunk highways Saturday. Assignments of territories were made by A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner in the forenoon.

Patrolman Alfred Dunn will cover state trunk highways 18, 28, 76, county trunks M and A, and tributary roads.

Patrolman Elmer Rohm has been assigned to police highways 47 and 54, county trunks B and G, and other county roads in the territory.

Patrolman Andrew Miller will police state trunk highways 15 and 55, and county trunks J and E.

Other roads recently taken over by the county as trunk lines, have not yet been named. These will be taken care of by officers within whose territory they are, Commissioner Brusewitz announced.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Increasing cloudiness, probably showers in west and north portions tonight or Sunday, and in southeast portion Sunday; warmer in east portion tonight; cooler Sunday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
Fair weather and moderate to mild temperatures are reported from nearly all sections this morning. However, a trough of low pressure covers the plains states, with increasing cloudiness, and while it is not yet producing showers, it will do so as it advances eastward. It is causing high temperatures over the plains and will cause mild temperatures in this section this afternoon and tonight. Somewhat lower temperatures are reported in the northwest on the rise in pressure following the "cold front" and this should reach here by Sunday.

CARS IN HIDING WHEN ASSESSOR COMES AROUND

City Loses Every Year on Automobiles Which Assessor Can't Find

To avoid payment of taxes on automobiles, many machines have been driven out of the city during the last two days by garage owners, it is estimated by George Peotter, city assessor.

They will be kept out of sight until Sunday or Monday, when they will be returned to the city again and prepared for sale.

All personal property owned by taxpayers up to midnight April 30 must be taxed, a state law provides, while any personal property secured after that time cannot be taxed until the next year.

As automobiles are perhaps the most easily transported of any personal property, as few persons as can will lay claim to ownership of a car until after midnight of the above mentioned date.

George Peotter, city assessor, took over his duties in earnest Saturday. His work was confined to garages, and the majority of garage owners were prepared for him. His work of assessing garage stock will be completed Saturday but he lays no claim that he will have assessed all cars. He is aware of this fact but he is quite helpless, nevertheless.

The city loses hundreds of dollars every year through failure to secure taxes from innumerable automobiles, according to Mr. Peotter. Hundreds of cars are removed to hiding places in the city or outside the city limits and these of course are not assessed.

Next Monday Mr. Peotter will commence work along College-ave. Real estate and stock of all business establishments will be assessed. After that he will complete his work in the First and Second wards which he already has started, and then continue through the remainder of the city. The work will require from three and one-half to four months.

TREK TO STREAMS AS TROUT SEASON OPENS

Trout fishing season opened Saturday and many Appleton fishermen took advantage of the weekend to explore their favorite creeks and rivers. State game laws prohibit fishermen from keeping trout under seven inches in length, but that doesn't bother most Appleton fishermen because if all the fish stories that are told are true, fishermen here never take them under 10 inches, and then they are considered small.

The Evergreen river and the Delta creek are closed to trout fishing this season to allow the fish to propagate.

JOB EXPECTS TWO THINGS OF PERSON WHO HOLDS IT

Vocation and Service was the subject of a talk given by Prof. Robert H. Hannum of the English department of Lawrence college Friday morning in the high school assembly period, the final event of the educational and vocational guidance week program just completed at the school. Prof. Hannum said an individual's job had a right to expect two things of that person, first that he gives the best he has and second that he serve the community to the best of his ability through his work.

Here's Instant Relief from Bunions and Soft Corns

Actually Reduces the Swelling — Soft Corns Dry Right Up and Can Be Picked Off.

Voigt's Drug Store Says Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction or Money Cheerfully Refunded

Get a two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) today. Every well stocked drug store has this, with the distinct understanding that your money will be cheerfully returned if it does not reduce the inflammation, soreness and pain much quicker than any remedy you ever used.

Your bunions may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture and pray for quick relief. What's to be done?

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes all the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And as for Soft Corns a few applications each night at bed time and they just seem to shrivel right up and scale off.

No matter how discouraged you have been with pads, shields or other applications, if you have not tried Emerald Oil then you have something to learn. Something that will end your foot troubles for ever.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

Voigt's Drug Store and every drugist guarantees Moone's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

EVENING SKY MAP FOR MAY

This map shows the constellations visible at 9 p. m., May 1, 8 p. m., May 15 and 7 p. m., May 31, in latitude 35 degrees north.

Though designed specifically for this latitude it is practicable for all parts of the United States and Southern Canada as a change of a few degrees in latitude has little effect on the appearance of the heavens.

To view the constellations as they appear in the sky hold the map over the head with the top of the map toward the north.

At the times mentioned the principal constellations in view are Leo and Gemini in the western sky, Virgo in the southeast, Bootes in the east, Ursa Major to the north of the zenith and Hydra with its riders, Corvus and Crater, stretching across the southern sky below the constellations of Cancer, Leo and Virgo.

BRILLIANT CAPELLA

In the northwest Auriga with its brilliant Capella is still above the horizon while in the northeast the significant Vega in Lyra is now forming conspicuously into view.

The constellation of Orion has now disappeared below the western horizon and also The Dog-Star, Sirius, in Canis Major but the Little Dog-Star, Procyon, in Canis Minor, may still be seen far over in the west.

The only bright star in the southwest at this time is the second magnitude star Alpheratz in Hydra. The Water-Snake. The head of Hydra is marked by a group of fairly bright stars to the south of Cancer and west of The Snake in Leo.

Spica, the white star of first magnitude in the southeast, in Virgo, represents the ear of wheat that The Maiden holds in her hand.

North and a little to the east of Spica at the base of the kite-shaped group of stars in Bootes is the beautiful reddish yellow Arcturus, considered by some to be the finest star visible in the evening sky in spring and summer, though others prefer the diamond-like Vega. These two stars are almost exactly equal in brightness though they differ very greatly in color.

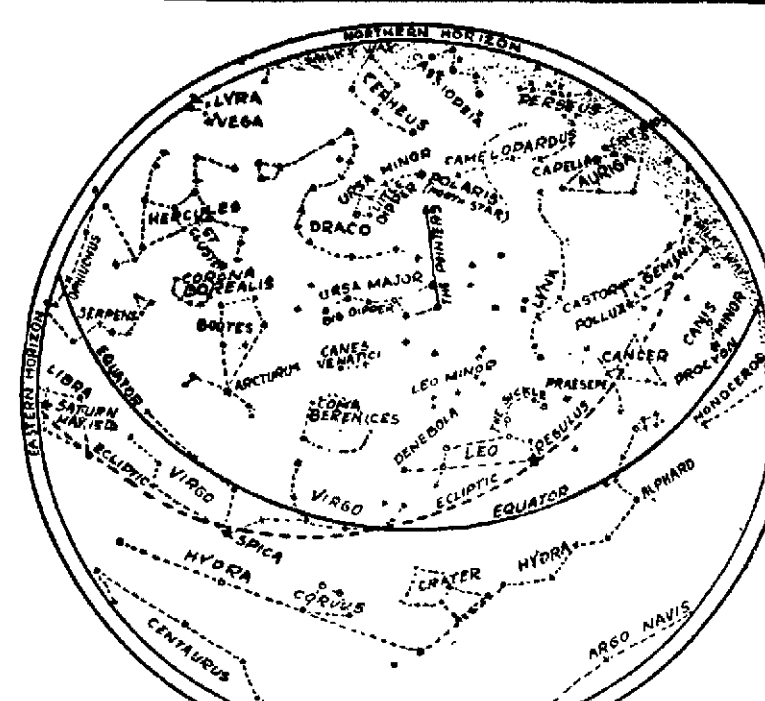

SATURN APPEARS

The planet Saturn has now come into the evening sky and will be found far over in the southeast in Libra. It is slightly brighter than Arcturus or Vega. It is now at its best for observation for it comes into opposition with the sun on the 14th of this month when it rises at sunset and remains visible throughout the night.

The planets Venus, Jupiter, and Mars will now be found in the eastern sky before sunrise. Venus, by far the brightest of all the planets, is now a magnificent Morning Star. Jupiter and Mars are not far apart in the southeast. Mars will be readily recognized by its reddish color. Though far inferior to Jupiter at this time it is steadily increasing in brightness as it approaches the earth and now outshines some of the stars of first magnitude.

Goodrich is in charge of transportation for the Appleton delegation. Plans for a state district Y's Men's organization also may be started. Five clubs have been organized in the state, enough to form a district organization. This organization sends delegates to national conventions. Clubs are organized in Superior, Wausau, Milwaukee, Green Bay and Appleton.

NOTES OF INTEREST FROM HILBERT VILLAGE

Hilbert — The approaching marriage of Lamma Boeslager and Henry Bergelin was announced at St. Peter and St. Paul Lutheran church Sunday.

Fred Stecker moved his household goods to town Monday.

Arnold Schmidt attended the Ford dealers meeting at Green Bay on Monday.

Ira Charles and brother of Sagola, Mich., called on the Kasper-Jaekels families this week.

The four children of August Albers are ill with mumps.

The Schafkopf club met with Mrs. McDowell this week. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mary Meyer and Mrs. Norma Jaekels.

The road two miles west of the village was closed Sunday evening owing to deep holes in it. One farmer living there pulled out about 15 cars Sunday which became stuck in these places.

Dr. C. F. Lawler, Mike and Ruth Vollmer were at the hospital at Appleton Monday where an x-ray of Ruth's arm disclosed a fracture.

Masked Player Guesses Must Be In By Wednesday Night

Send those coupons to the Masked Players contest editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent now. Don't delay another minute as all entries must be in by Wednesday night. And don't forget to enclose with the coupon your name and address because it maybe that you have won one of the handsome cash prizes offered to the six persons scoring highest in the competition. Remember that $50 in cold hard cash will be given to the person who guesses the greatest number of masked players correctly and who sends in the best set of slogans.

Here's a few more slogan suggestions:—"Siren of the Silver Sheet, Film-land's Beauty Rose, Man of a Thousand Faces, Every Inch a Man."

In another week at the Elite theater the screen celebrities will doff their masks and then you'll see how nearly correct you came to guessing their names. Did you guess Lon Chaney for one? Do you think Claire Windsor was in it? Was Buster Keaton behind one of the masks?

Well in another week we'll know who they all were. Off will come the masks. Then—the prizes.

We offer and recommend Wisconsin Gas & Electric Co. 6 1/2% cumulative preferred shares as a thoroughly safe permanent income investment for the savings of Wisconsin men and women.

The business is State-regulated, permanent, prosperous, growing steadily with the growth of the rich cities and farming region which it serves. The company serves 60,000 gas and electric customers, including over 1,100 farms and dairies, in ten of the best industrial and farming counties of southeastern Wisconsin. Financially and otherwise it is one of the strongest public utility companies in the United States.

Common stock dividends averaging 8% yearly have been paid every year since 1906. Preferred share dividends have been paid every three months since the first issue of preferred was sold in 1917.

The shares cost $100 each, payable all cash or $10 down and $10 per share monthly. They are on sale at the offices named below:

Securities Department, Public Service Bldg., Milwaukee.

Wisconsin Gas & Electric Co.—Racine, Kenosha, Waukesha, Watertown, Whitewater, Burlington, South Milwaukee and Cudahy.

Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co.—Appleton and Neenah-Menasha.

Badger Public Service Co.—Plymouth.

Peninsular Power Co.—Iron Mountain, Michigan.

Dividends on paid-up shares start the day you buy them. Interest at the dividend rate is allowed on monthly payments, credited on the final payment. Dividend checks are mailed July 15, Oct. 15, Jan. 15 and April 15, each year.

In case of need you can have your shares resold, through Securities Department, at $100 each, less $1 a share resale charge.

This issue of 15,000 shares was placed on sale April 7, with the State's approval, to finance new plant investment. Since that date 700 men and women have bought one to twenty shares each, some for cash, others on monthly payments. Not more than twenty shares will be sold to any one buyer. The company has 3,500 fully paid-up home preferred shareholders, and expects the sale of this issue to bring the total above 4,500.

The nature of the industry and the strength of the company give these shares the safety of a good bond with the higher income of a first class cumulative preferred stock, paid four times yearly. We will be glad to send a circular or a salesman at your convenience. Mail orders are filled promptly by registered letter. Address:

PROHIBITION REFERENDUM

Senator Edge's challenge to the dries for a national referendum is not logical from their standpoint. He says: "They know full well if they felt at all confident in that assertion (that public sentiment has not changed) rather than raise technical objections, they would welcome a national referendum in order to justify their boasts." If public opinion has not changed, or if the dries really believe it has not changed, they are under no obligation to consent to a reference of prohibition to a vote. In fact, there would be the best of reasons why no vote should be taken. There could be no just claim in asking for a referendum on a question that had been decided so emphatically as was this issue in the adoption of the eighteenth amendment. We are not accustomed in this country to hold referendums on laws or constitutional amendments already adopted, at least until they are thoroughly tried out. The wets would have no standing on a demand of this kind.

Before a referendum would be justified there would have to be pretty conclusive evidence that there had been such a change in public sentiment that the law itself would probably be changed. Here again the dries would be well sustained in their opposition to a referendum for the fear of losing the election, so that from any viewpoint, whether impartial or selfish, the dries can hardly be expected to outshine over the proposal for a national election. They have what they want, or at least they have on the statute books the legislation they wish, and they have nothing to gain by a poll of public sentiment.

Moreover, there is the objection that no legal machinery for conducting a federal referendum exists, and the further objection that if it were attempted it would be impolitic to inject it into a presidential campaign, as is proposed. A popular expression might be obtained through state referendums, but whether they would be conclusive or satisfactory is a question. Nevertheless, surface opposition to the Volstead act has become so strong and so general that it is entitled to a hearing. If there is any way to conclusively determine majority opinion, we think it ought to be done. Conditions are not satisfactory today, and steps should be taken to improve them regardless of whether it is necessary to depart from existing policies. The people should have what they want. They are entitled to their opinions as to what will be best for them and the nation. This principle is recognized in the eighteenth amendment itself. Finally, it will be deplorable if the prohibition issue is to involve our politics to the extent of controlling innumerable and important elections which should be decided without reference to this controversy.

THE FRENCH DEBT

An agreement satisfactory alike to the French government, the American debt commission and President Coolidge has been reached for the funding of the French debt. Briefly, the arrangement provides for a payment over 62 years of a grand total of $6,847,674,104, beginning with annual payments of $30,000,000 during each of the first two years and running up to a maximum beginning with the seventeenth year of $125,000,000. This is a material increase in the initial payments, over which there had been differences, and it is an increase of $627,000,000 over the total payments offered in the Caillaux negotiations last September.

No doubt the settlement will be heatedly attacked in the senate. There are always a few senators or politicians who cannot or will not see things as the majority see them. Their bent of mind is different. They hold out for extremes one way or the other. They want the whole hog or none. Accommodation and compromise are measures in shaping the relations of men of which they know little. There are men in the senate who do not like France just as there are men who do not like Great Britain and others of the European nations. There are also some senators with exaggerated notions of their personal importance, who think they know more about running the government of the United States than the president, his cabinet and his advisers. They seldom accomplish much by their obstructions and resistance, but they never yield. They will be on hand to oppose the French debt settlement. They would oppose it no matter what its terms.

The public has no means of knowing whether the settlement is ethical and sound. The country must rely upon the judgment of the president and the debt funding commission. When they give their approval to a transaction of this kind, the people should, unless they have reason to question the motive and capacity of the chief executive and his expert advisers, approve the action. For ourselves we would prefer to accept the recommendations and conclusions of the responsible head of the government than the subtle meanderings of the senate jackdaws, who would pick to pieces even the Declaration of Independence if it were to be re-submitted for American approval.

Undoubtedly the French settlement will be ratified by the senate, and this will about complete the funding of Europe's debts to us. The effects of these settlements will be a very material gain to both Europe and America in their commercial and political relations. The settlements will also help to restore financial stability abroad, and in the case of France was an indispensable requisite to a return to solvency.

PHILIPPINE BOYCOTT

The threat of Roxas, speaker of the Philippine House, to "boycott and otherwise intimidate" all Americans in the Philippines who oppose independence for the islands, leaves us cold, and greatly resentful. While it is true that in the past we have rather dallied with Philippine independence, nevertheless, the islanders have not lost by that action since they were not yet in a position to adequately govern themselves.

But if our reason has been unable to see the justice of the cause of Philippine independence at this stage of the game, it is far from likely that we would take kindly to a program of intimidation against Americans who take this same view in the islands and if the Philippine people think they can pursue such a course profitably, they will be greatly mistaken.

THE HIGH PRICE OF BEAUTY

Describing the sad consequences of paraffin injections which had been made by the "plumping" "beauty doctors" for the purpose of "improving" an "hollow" or "removing" wrinkles or "improving" an unsatisfactory nose. Dr. Douglas W. Montgomery and George D. Culver, of San Francisco, remark: "The question of publishing persons who cause such suffering is a grave one. The legal phrase caveat emptor—let the buyer beware—is an old one in Anglo-Saxon law and is justly respected, but the conditions in modern life have changed. A few years ago no one suspected the psychic vicious advertising. We now know that the most vicious and destructive agents on record are the advertisements under its influence, and that a given amount of trade, irrespective of the worth of the article advertised. The effect of injecting paraffin under the skin, to fill out hollows or "plump" a sagging cheek, is in too many instances a wind of slow tumor formation which physicians call paraffinoma. There is a boggy or doughy swelling and a low-grade inflammation about the paraffin, which not only gives a hideous appearance but seldom responds to any kind of treatment and sometimes develops into definite cancer.

Once the paraffin is injected there is no way to remove it again, without mutilation of the face. Now there are conditions which do nevertheless warrant the use of paraffin, but only when there is a mutilating defect to be alleviated and only when surgery is impracticable. The misguided girl or woman who permits anybody to inject paraffin in her face or any part of the body merely for "beauty" is a reputable plastic surgeon calls my attention to a recent blurb in a newspaper "beauty expert" who attempted to describe something of which she was obviously ignorant, among other things telling the reader that a plastic operation on the nose is done by external cutting. That would be a fair way to mutilate the nose, but if the purpose is to correct a cosmetic defect the surgeon makes no external incision; he operates for weeks with the nose. Sometimes these "beauty experts" are in cahoots with quacks who perhaps would commit such an atrocity on a dupe if they had the opportunity. A great deal of misinformation relating to the wonders of plastic or cosmetic surgery has been given by alleged beauty experts through the women's magazines and women's pages in newspapers.

When a writer without medical training tries to tell the public about a new cure or remedy, the operation, in fact, any medical or surgical development, almost invariably he gets more fiction than truth in his story. Even the news stories about medical discoveries are usually humorous—to the reader who has medical knowledge, though too often tragic to the layman, because these highly colored yarns so often hold out false hope to suffering people and prompt them, if they believe much they read in the papers, to neglect proper care or treatment in order to chase some will-o'-the-wisp.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Vitamins
Does boiling foods such as milk destroy the vitamins? Please send me your literature on the different foodstuffs and also on vitamins A, B and C. I am a high school student. (S. M.)

Answer—Oxidation destroys vitamins, so ordinary boiling does so. If the milk could be boiled in a vessel from which all air or oxygen is excluded, the heat alone would not destroy the vitamins. That is the reason why certain canned foods, such as tomatoes, lose their vitamin value when canned at home, but retain it when canned by the vacuum process as in factories. I have no printed matter dealing with foodstuffs or the vitamins. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

CAVALRY HOLDS IMPORTANT PART IN ARMY MOVES

Results of 1925 British Maneuvers Show Brilliant Future for Horsemen

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—The results of the 1925 British army maneuvers refute statements which have been made that the cavalry is becoming obsolete and will have no important place in another war. In fact it has been said that judging from these results the cavalry "holds a future as brilliant as its past." The London press reports an official decision, based on the maneuvers, announcing the urgent need of more cavalry.

That the cavalry is viewed with increasing respect by other nations is indicated by the recent announcement that Japan is about to establish an extensive mounted service. In many European countries the cavalry is receiving particular attention and is being reorganized. It is realized that the cavalry must be able to fight as well as to maneuver.

BREAK THROUGH SCREEN
In a recent article General N. N. Golovine, of Russia, replied to the question, "In what shall the striking power of the modern cavalry consist, if the mounted shocks have become a matter of the past?" he says that in the first place cavalry must be able to break through the screen with which every operation of an army is covered in the theatre of war. It must be able to occupy quickly advantageous points of the terrain, pushing back the enemy advance units which have been sent out to take possession of them. It must be able to overpower enemy units assigned the task of protecting the enveloped flank and rear.

Finally, it must be strong enough to break the resistance of enemy rearward units engaged in holding up their main body's pursuit. Thus, General Golovine continues, it may be said that modern cavalry has not only become the arm of maneuver but also of the fight of encounter.

Formerly members of the cavalry were "led by their officers. The individual was lost in the charging masses. In this day, however, the quickened tempo of maneuvering necessitates a dismembered formation in which every subordinate leader is faced with the alternative of dismounting and slowing down the maneuver, or of taking a chance and continuing it mounted with a view to enveloping the enemy by surprise. This is the opinion is expressed that the modern cavalry should be made up of horsemen of higher cavalry spirit than ever before.

GERMANS THINK SAME

It is noted that the Germans have arrived at the same conclusion. General von Posek of the German cavalry says, "With pain in heart we must confess that the time of mounted mass encounters has passed."

He further states that at the beginning of the World War German cavalrymen were unprepared for dismounted fighting but that gradually this became the usual thing. He strongly protests though against turning the cavalry into mounted infantry. The latter consists of mounted rifle-men while the general opinion is that modern cavalry should consist of horsemen who are excellent shots and who sit on well-trained horses.

In modern warfare the cavalry must cooperate much more closely with other branches of the army than it did formerly. The organization of large cavalry units should not be so concerned with their capability of independent action as with the ease with which they may be included into the larger army units. Since the infantry division is the basic tactical unit, its interests come first, and therefore an army which is looking for a war of movement must provide its infantry divisions with first class cavalry.

Lieutenant Colonel Kenyon A. Joyce of the United States Cavalry, who was an observer of the British Army maneuvers last fall, says that although much has been said of the tactical advantages of moving infantry in motor trucks, an analysis of the various British field exercises would indicate that long columns of motor vehicles carrying infantry are such a vulnerable target for aircraft and artillery that they can not be used successfully in areas close to the enemy. That is, if these columns are tied to the roads.

Colonel Joyce expresses the opinion that unless the army utilizing motor trucks for the transportation of troops has practically complete control of the air and a clear superiority of artillery, such a method would be most hazardous in areas other than those far removed from enemy contact. A bomb at the head of a column and several more in its length would effectively block any truck train and put the troops out probably many miles from their intended point of destination.

Q. Why do some people have trouble in sleeping after drinking coffee at night? A. V. G.

A. Coffee owes its well-known stimulating action to the presence of the alkaloid caffeine. This substance has a diuretic action upon the kidneys and raises blood pressure. This influence upon blood pressure is probably the reason sleepiness may be prevented by partaking of coffee. Muscular energy is augmented and the sense of fatigue dissipated by the use of this stimulant.

Q. Where is the station of the weather bureau that is nearest the North Pole? H. L.

A. It is at Barrow, Alaska, about 1100 miles south of the North Pole. It is true that the puma or mountain lion utters a bloodcurdling cry? J. D. E.

A. Dr. W. T. Hornaday says that contrary to reports the cry of the mountain lion is a most fearful sound and is unforgetable by one who has heard it. It is a weird half-human note or scream.

Q. What does it cost the government to try to control insects and diseases of plants and animals? N. M. W.

A. In the year 1924 the department of agriculture spent $10,500,000 or 24.3 per cent of the total expenditure for this work.

Q. Why didn't Queen Alexandra become queen of England upon the death of King Edward? A. C. R.

A. Queen Alexandra was queen of England by virtue of her being the wife of King Edward. On the death of the monarch, the kingship is inherited by the eldest living son.

Q. Where was Fort Lyon? J. F. E.

A. Fort Lyon, Fairfax county, Virginia, was one of the defenses of Washington during the Civil war, from 1861 to 1865. It was a temporary post located one-half mile south of Cameron Run and one-half mile southwest of Alexandria.

Q. When was the Mansion House built? A. T. S.

A. If you refer to the official residence of the Lord Mayor of London, this dwelling place was built between 1753 and 1755.

Q. What do Chinese use ginseng for? T. A. T.

A. The little yellow root of the ginseng plant is used by the Chinese as food and medicine. Specimens resembling the human body often come with great rapidity and resistless force and with a height varying from 2 or 3 feet to more than 12 feet. In the case of the Tsen-Tankiang the height is said to have a rise of 20 feet and to advance with a loud roar at the rate of 10 miles an hour.

Q. What will keep brass faucets from looking water spotted? N. A. A.

A. After cleaning them, apply a little furniture polish. The oil in the polish prevents chemical action from the splashing water.

Q. Why was the presidential salute fixed at 21 guns? D. M. A.

A. In 1818 the first regulation adopted for a presidential salute of 21 guns came into effect. At that time there were 21 states in the union. The royal salute of Great Britain and the national salute of France were also 21 guns. The choice of 21 might be attributed to any of these facts. In 1824 the presidential salute was 24 guns and there were 24 States in the union. In 1841 there was a regulation stating 21 guns as the salute but how before 1841 the salute was changed to 21 is not known.

Q. How was the Philadelphia name of Rittenhouse originally spelled? A. T. P.

A. Rittenhousen.

Q. How many physicians are there in the United States and how much money do they make? I. N. K.

A. In 1925, there were 147,000 practicing physicians. It is said that the average gross income of physicians is $3000 per annum, or $440,000,000 for all.

Q. When was the first ship built in America that crossed an ocean? L. C. A.

A. A little band of Huguenots at Port Royal built a pinnace in 1562 in which they returned to France in the winter of 1562-3. This is thought to be the first American built ship to cross the ocean.

Q. What per cent of the coal in a mine can be taken out of the coal? N. O. K.

A. All coal can be extracted if there are no buildings erected on the mine but if there are buildings there now pillars must be left; in that case only about 50 per cent can be extracted.

Q. Please give the derivation of the name "Russia." J. C.

A. It is derived from the name given to the Swedish Vikings or Varangians, who established themselves at Novgorod and were called Rus, or Russi. These words are Slavonic and Greek corruptions of Ruotsi, the name applied to the Swedes, denoting rovers or seafarers.

Q. How does the Navy Department bend boat frames? W. N. V.

A. The Navy Department says it has for some time discontinued the steaming and bending of boat frames, owing to the losses incurred during the bending. In lieu thereof, manufactured laminated boat frames are used, which consist of strips of oak planking about 1/4 inch thick, glued together with casein glue. It has been found that it is possible to manufacture the most difficult boat frames in this manner without steaming the wood, and also that such frames take their shape perfectly, even after being submerged in salt water. Furthermore, they are stronger than solid frames and experience has also shown that the cost of material and gluing them is not more than the cost of steaming and bending solid frames.

Q. Is the 1926 quota from Great Britain filled? J. B.

A. We are informed that the British quota is filled for more than a year to come. The annual allotment of Great Britain and Northern Ireland is 24,000.

BIG CLASS TO GET DEGREES IN FORESTER LODGE

Appleton court of Catholic Order of Foresters will confer degrees on 27 candidates Tuesday evening in St. Joseph hall. The work will be in charge of John A. Kuypers of De Pere, state chief ranger. Mr. Kuypers will be assisted by John A. Crevecoeur of De Pere as senior conductor. Other officers of the central Fox River valley have been invited to take candidates to the meeting for initiation at this time. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

HOLD SOCIAL FOR CHURCH SOCIETY

The annual social for German and English members of the Third order of St. Francis of St. Joseph church will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at parish hall. A splendid program has been arranged under the direction of Prof. J. J. Theiss.

The Rev. Father Engelbert is to deliver the address of welcome. Other numbers on the program include a song by Harold McGillan, a talk by John Waites, a song by Henry Schmitz, an address by the Rev. John Hummel, a song by Marie Allen, a reading by Robert McGillan, a duet by Prof. A. J. Theiss and George Theiss.

After the program, ladies of the order will serve a supper in the lower hall. A social will follow the supper. Mrs. John Waites is chairman of the supper committee.

PARTIES

About fifteen members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Episcopal Presbyterian church attended the social given by the society Friday night at the church. A treasure hunt was one of the features of the program. The prize was won by the team explained by Henry Heller. Games were played after the treasure hunt. Irene Greunke and Charles Scott were in charge of the program.

"Bird Houses and How to Build Them."

This is the name of a free booklet which every bird lover should have.

These feathered friends make excellent neighbors. They are desirable about premises not only on account of their beauty and song, but because of their economic worth. All day long they will protect your trees, shrubs, and gardens from ruinous insects.

No attraction for birds is more effective than a series of houses suited to the need of the various kinds of birds.

These houses are not difficult to construct and are very inexpensive. Beautifully your surroundings by erecting a number of them. Complete instructions are contained in an interesting booklet which this Bureau has for free distribution. Enclose a two cent stamp for return postage.

PROGRAM WILL FOLLOW DINNER OF PLAY CLUB

Plans have been completed for the annual recreational department banquet of Appleton Women's club which is to be held at the club rooms Tuesday evening. Marion Ingenthron has been selected to act as toastmistress, in the absence of Florence Whipple, president of the sports council. Supper will be served by women of the club.

After the banquet a program of short talks and speeches, a May festival entertainment will be given at the Playhouse. May dances, readings and a puppet show will be presented. Tickets for the banquet must be secured from the club room no later than Monday evening.

CHEERY FROCKS PUT PEP INTO HOUSE WORK

Last year we heard a great deal about Frenchwomen and even our New York sisters, wearing complexion pills were powdered very pale with well rouged lips, but not many of us took up the vogue. Thin white cheeks were unattractive, and plump pale cheeks were too obviously faked. The rosy glow of health, somehow, seems to suit most of us better. Preferably of course it should come from the inside. And now word comes to us by cable from Russia that women in Moscow are tired of our methods of making ourselves beautiful.

They have decided to get away from the conventional red lips and eternally blushing cheeks of American women. Cerise and tan is the color combination they have approved and women in the cities of Russia have taken it up to good advantage. The effect is that of a sun tanned complexion and lips of a bright and healthy pink.

In a further spirit of contrariness they have adopted the American interpretation of the tan, a shanter and refused to wear galoshes, saying that they detract from the charm of feminine gracefulness. They are not unappreciative, however, of the American idea of footwear. Moscow shops are unable to meet the demand for imported shoes despite the fact that they cost twice as much as Russian made footwear.

BERRY SHORTAGE SENDS PRICES SKYROCKETING

Strawberry prices jumped 10 cents per quart over night in Appleton. On Friday they were selling for 50 cents per quart and the Saturday price is 60 cents. The reason for this raise was the failure of Chicago dealers to stock berries and the market is now short.

It will be a week, according to one dealer before the price again drops to normal.

Dresses in the Ladies' Home Journal Dress-making Contest should be at the Fair Store not later than 5:30 p. m. Monday.

175 Attend Last Party For Seniors

Appleton seniors gathered in the high school gymnasium Friday evening for their final get-together and social event before commencement, the senior farewell banquet. Covers were laid for 175. Members of the high school faculty were guests.

Carl Schiebler, president of the class of 1926, was master of ceremonies. Herbert Heible, principal, gave a Word to the Seniors and Mr. Schiebler talked on Memories. Between courses high school and popular songs were sung. A humorous stunt was presented by a group of senior boys.

The program was followed by dancing. Abe Belzer's orchestra furnished music. The banquet was served by 12 boys of the junior class.

A May pole in the center of the gymnasium having crepe paper streamers extending to the banquet tables was a attractive decoration.

Oil is to be extracted from olive stones in a factory being built near Pameus, Greece.

THIS WOMAN'S BATTLE

Wins Against Ill Health

"At times I was hardly able to do my housework," writes Mrs. Margaret Wallace, of 1547 Safford Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

How many women have found themselves in this same condition! How many women have fought bravely on, day after day, cooking, washing, ironing, doing the dishes, and keeping the house clean, when they were in a weakened condition and had not sufficient strength to perform these duties. A friend advised her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a fair trial. "I just can't give enough thanks to it," she writes. "Now I can eat anything at all and I am feeling better than I have in years. I shall never be without your medicine again."

A woman who is fighting for her health and her family's happiness is a valiant soldier. She wages her battle in her own kitchen. She has no thrilling battles to cheer her on, no waving banners.

Many other women tell us, as Mrs. Wallace did that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health.

Would You Ask Your Neighbor to Do Your Work?

The church deserves the unqualified support of every good citizen. He who fails to do his share in making it possible for the church to maintain its position is selfishly asking his neighbor to do his work for him. If only a small part of the attention squandered on activities unprofitable and often harmful were turned to a whole-hearted backing, personally and financially, of the forward program of church, almost miraculous results would be accomplished. Every man and woman can well afford to make space in the weekly program for church attendance and church support.

COLLEGE EVADES ATHLETIC EVILS, WRISTON SAYS

Lawrence Authorities Keep Athletics on High Plane

Condemnation of intercollegiate football in the April bulletin of the American Association of University Professors on the grounds that as now conducted the sport is conducive to drinking, dishonesty, neglect of college work and the distortion of the real value of a college education, does not apply to intercollegiate sports at Lawrence college as athletic conditions here and those in the larger universities of the country differ widely, according to Dr. Henry M. Wriston, Lawrence college president.

TOO MUCH SPECTACLE
Dr. Wriston said that intercollegiate sports, and football in particular, were being brought into disrepute in many places because they were becoming more of a sensational spectacle for the amusement of the general public than clean wholesome sport for benefit of college students. This public exploitation of college sports has resulted in commercialism of athletics and much of the professionalism and semi-professionalism in the certain sections of the country at the present time.

Dr. Wriston mentioned five things which place Lawrence athletics on a higher and more sportsmanlike plane than those in institutions which probably were the basis of the attack on intercollegiate football by the Association of University Professors.

FRESHMAN RULE
In the first place Lawrence has the three year ruling in football which bars freshmen from competition on the varsity squad. The same ruling will be placed in effect in basketball and track next year. This will go a long way to prevent wandering athletes from coming to college here only to play football for one year or he will not be allowed to return to school the following fall.

Football at Lawrence cannot be criticized for being the cause of men neglecting their academic work. Dr. Wriston said, for athletes must keep up their class standings if they want to remain on the team.

FORBIDS "RINGERS"
Lawrence also forbids the hiring of "ringers" and attempts to discourage the practice of offering financial inducements whatever to athletes to come here, as this practice commercializes sport and makes a team of semi professional players rather than a group of college students.

The fourth point stressed by Dr. Wriston was that the local college does not pay a fabulous sum to any of its athletic coaches as do some of the institutions of the country which try to outbid each other in offering huge sums to "tramp" coaches who drift from one institution to another looking only for the largest financial remuneration. Dr. Wriston said that many coaches are paid far out of proportion to the service they render to the college or university where they were employed and that their pension is determined solely by the demand for an amusement for the general public.

Lawrence football and basketball schedules are not as heavy as in most midwestern and eastern educational institutions and the greater part of the student body does not follow the team on its out-of-town trips, thus minimizing at Lawrence evils which might result from the general weekend "trek" to other cities.

The report of the university professors recommended limiting students to one year of intercollegiate football. Dr. Wriston said this plan sounded all right theoretically but that no such step need be considered for Lawrence. Such a plan, of course, could not be satisfactory unless adopted by all colleges and universities of the country so that all teams would be on an equal basis.

The professors' association charged that football created over-excitement, which mounted as the season progressed to "hysteria." It was granted in the report that football had some good effects on the undergraduate body in that it afforded an absorbing recreation, created a

82% started to buy higher priced cars

- then decided on the Overland Six because of what they found

Here are some remarkable facts brought out in an investigation among Overland Six Owners. They tell the story of Overland Six popularity in a way that words can never describe.

This check-up shows that 82% of these present owners actually started out to purchase higher priced cars—then changed their minds and bought an Overland Six when they compared the values offered.

It revealed the fact that 62.5% chose this Six because of its amazing power. "Nothing like it on four wheels today" . . . "its performance thrills me to the finger tips" . . . these are some of the typical things they say.

18% bought this car on its beauty alone . . . without even a demonstration.

15% said that comfort was its greatest feature.

What you get in this world-famous Six

This big sturdy Six will out-pull, out-run and out-perform anything else of its size, or weight, or price-class.

It is a car of exceptional comfort. The big, broad door openings are 32½ inches wide. You can get in or out with the utmost ease.

Seats are wide, luxuriously comfortable. There is more cubic feet of space inside than in any car of this price . . . with plenty of room for five full-size passengers. Room to stretch your legs without feeling cramped or crowded.

An artist created the distinguished, smart looking Overland Six you see in the illustration.

Every line, every curve and contour is the result of painstaking craftsmanship and study.

Frankly, we took the 18 best cars of America and Europe and combined their salient features in this new-type Overland Six.

There is no Six built today that offers greater value . . . no car made in which finer quality of material is used or better workmanship employed. In justice to yourself, see this wonderful car.

CHIROPRACTIC For BETTER-HEALTH

Question—How can I gain better health by Chiropractic Adjustments if I decide to take them?

Answer—Chiropractic teaches that the cause of health and disease is within the body. Health being the result of perfect transmission of nerve impulses over the nerves between the brain and periphery, and disease is caused by interference with the transmission of the nerve energy. Chiropractic further teaches that subluxated vertebrae causes impingement on the spinal nerves, thereby interrupting the flow of impulses, and predisposing the body to disease. Therefore, in order to bring about health in the body, it is of prime importance to establish normal transmission of impulses over the nerves by adjusting the subluxated vertebrae.

Disease in a particular part of the body is caused by pressure on a particular set of nerves. Chiropractic removes the cause of disease by adjusting the specific subluxation to relieve the specific pressure. When no other part is involved, no other part of the spine requires any ritual performance.

COUNTY MOTOR OFFICERS WILL ATTEND MEETING

Traffic Cops Expect to Organize Statewide Association

Outagamie-co motorcycle officers expect to attend the statewide meeting of traffic officers at Fond du Lac on Wednesday, May 5. It has stated at the county highway commissioner's office here.

Outagamie-co officers are Elmer Rohm, route 4, Appleton; Andrew Miller, Kaukauna; Alfred Dunn, Appleton. The purpose of the meeting is to organize a statewide association of traffic officers, according to a plan recently adopted at a meeting at Juneau, which was attended by traffic officers of several counties.

As the distance between Appleton and Fond du Lac is not great, the Outagamie-co representatives will make the trip on their own machines, it was announced.

The only way to assure compliance with the law is to make enforcement uniform, Elmer Becker, Fond du Lac motorcycle officer, said in the invitations to the meeting.

At the present time some communities permit motorists to operate their cars at 50 miles an hour while in others, arrests are made for operating automobiles at a speed of 37 or 38 miles an hour.

The result is that some communities are blacklisted as "speed traps," simply because their officers enforce the law. It is also believed that by uniform enforcement the "one headlight or no taillight" evil can be headed to better advantage.

Other problems with which the traffic officers are constantly forced to contend will be considered at the meeting. The plan has met with the sanction of the state highway commission and the secretary of state. It is said.

BEWARE OF BOGUS A. O. SMITH CHECKS

"Beware of bogus A. O. Smith Corporation pay checks," warns the protective department of the Wisconsin Bankers' association.

Numerous bogus checks bearing the name of the A. O. Smith Corporation have been passed in Minnesota, and some have been passed in Eau Claire. The regular A. O. Smith Corporation check has a three engraving about 1 1/2 inches wide running clear across the check, while the bogus checks have the name of the corporation about 3/4 inch wide.

The checks are signed F. B. Schfer, who is not the secretary-treasurer of the corporation.

None of these checks has been reported to the Appleton police department.

PLANS NOT COMPLETED FOR CHURCH ADDITION

Plans for the addition to the First Baptist church have not yet been completed by Smith and Brandt, architects. The work will not start for several weeks as contractors must bid on the job before it is awarded.

The proposed addition will cost approximately $40,000, according to the Rev. E. M. Salter, pastor of the church. It will be used entirely as an educational building, Rev. Salter said, and will include a general assembly room, church parlors, and several smaller rooms for use by Sunday school classes. The addition will be completed by about Oct. 1.

The new structure will be built of tile and brick of the same color as the present church.

Services Still Are Held In Old Plymouth Church

New York—(AP)—Plymouth, the Congregational church in Brooklyn of which the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was the first pastor, is to have its fourth minister after more than three-quarters of a century of existence.

In Orange street the dignified substantial walls of the old meeting house stand like a rock in the shifting sands of change that three generations have brought to New York since its founding. Located in Columbia Heights, one of the choice residence districts of the city of old Brooklyn, the place of worship stands foursquare against the alterations that years and commerce have enforced in its vicinity.

Gentility still has its habitat in the old Heights neighborhood but into Plymouth's locality trade has come. Small shops have pushed close to its sturdy iron gates. In Fulton street nearby, fast trains roar by. In a neighborhood where once the King's English was the only tongue, there are now the liquid vowels of mixed races.

But despite the shifting scene of its background, Plymouth stands today almost unchanged spiritually and physically. Since the day in January, 1850, when Rev. Dr. Beecher preached his first sermon in the new structure, the church has taken a notable place in the discussion of religious and national policies. The young preacher who had come to the temporarily housed congregation nearly three years earlier from pastorates in Indiana brought oratorical power and a quality of leadership that filled even the largest auditoriums.

The pastorate of the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott from 1888 to 1899 and of the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis from 1899, until 1924 carried on and added to the traditions of the forty years service of the Rev. Dr. Beecher. Now as then, Plymouth attracts a congregation that includes persons who come from New Jersey, Connecticut, the Eastern end of Long Island and upstate New York. Most of the older members who knew the church in the days when ultra fashionable men wore silk topers and went about in rigs drawn by snappy spans of bays, continue to make it their place of worship. Some of the younger generation have elected to attend smart new churches in other sections of the city, but this defection has been offset by youth of another ideal.

Plymouth sent a call to the Rev. Dr. James Stanley Durkes, president of Howard University, Washington, D. C. It became apparent that the Rev. Dr. Hillis, who suffered a breakdown in health, would be unable to resume his pulpit.

Under the Plymouth roof have been heard speeches that shaped the destiny of the nation and under its shelter presidents have worshipped. Abraham Lincoln attended divine service the day he gave at Cooper Union the speech on "What the Fathers Thought About Slavery." On that occasion the tall statesman shared his book with a short usher and with the book tilted between them the two joined in singing "The Shining Shore."

COMMITTEE WILL GIVE REPORT ON GARBAGE ISSUE

Common Council Expected to Act on Garbage Plant at Next Meeting

A final report, including results of its investigations and its recommendation, will be made by the garbage committee at the next meeting of the common council, according to P. Earle, chairman of the committee. The committee concluded its final inspection trip Tuesday when it went to Green Bay to study the system of garbage disposal employed by the city.

Green Bay, it was learned, collects and delivers its garbage to one or two farmers who feed it to their hogs. This is a plan similar to the one employed at Madison, and is one which was considered here. The committee, which was appointed by former mayor John Goodland, Jr., also has made trips to Madison, West Allis and other cities in the southern part of the state for the purpose of determining the worth of various garbage disposal systems and of comparing the cost of each.

The committee's report and recommendations will be presented to the council at its meeting next Wednesday evening, May 5, at which time the fate of the proposed garbage disposal plant probably will be decided. Although $25,000 was set aside in the budget for the construction of a plant, this is no assurance that the plant will be built. It is recognized that such a sum would not be sufficient if the proposed project is adopted by the council.

A report of the committee on the new city hall also is expected at the next meeting. This committee is an old body and will either be reappointed or give way to a new committee.

DON'T EXPECT HIGH WATER THIS SEASON

Rivermen expect little high water this year. Lake Winnebago is now at practically its normal level, while its feeders, Lake Winnebago and Lake Koshong, are only about six inches higher than normal level. Usually at this time of the year these tributaries are in the neighborhood of two feet above the ordinary level.

The Wolf and Fox rivers, too, are carrying comparatively little water. Unless unusually heavy rains fall, it probably will be necessary to conserve the water in Lake Michigan, an experienced riverman declares.

While the lakes in the northern part of the state still have ice in them, in some cases, two feet thick, and snowdrifts six or seven feet high are still to be found in northern counties, this territory is drained by the Wisconsin river system, it is pointed out. All snow has disappeared at the headwaters of the Wolf.

RASEY GIVES CHARTER TO DEPERE ROTARY CLUB

Lee C. Rasey, Appleton, governor of the tenth Rotary district, presented a charter to the newly organized Rotary club at DePere Wednesday evening. The new club has a membership of about 20. Approximately 30 local Rotarians went to DePere to attend the presentation.

FREE CONSULTATION TO CHRONIC SUFFERERS

I want to talk to you. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit does not discourage me in the least; I am helping men and women every day, effecting cures, many times, in cases pronounced incurable by others, so that I feel sure I can do as much for you. My counsel will cost you nothing but my charges for treatment will be reasonable and not more than you will be willing to pay for the benefits conferred.

I treat Rheumatism, Nervousness, Gout, Asthma, Stomach and Heart Troubles, Catarrh, Bladder and Skin Diseases, Constipation, Urinary and Kidney Diseases and Diseases peculiar to Women.

DR. TURBIN

KAUKAUNA NEWS

G. W. PATTON
Kaukauna Representative
Telephone 298-JMOLOCH PLEA TO ISSUE STOCK UP
TO COMMISSIONHearing Reveals Kaukauna
Company Is Prospering in Last 3 Years

Kaukauna—The Wisconsin Railroad Commission conducted a hearing Friday morning in the council chambers of the municipal building on an application by the Moloch Machinery and Foundry company of this city for a permit to sell preferred stock to the amount of $175,000 and to reduce the present common stock to $200,000. A. R. McDonald, of the commission, presided over the hearing. Officials of the Moloch company were questioned by the commission to the reason and necessity of selling preferred stock and reducing the present amount of common stock.

During the course of the examination of R. M. Kanik, president and general manager of the Moloch company, it was brought out that the company had prospered in the last three years and that it had shown a substantial gain in assets and earnings. It was also stated by Mr. Kanik that a number of the large industrial concerns in Milwaukee were now purchasing a large part of their special machinery and gray castings from the Moloch company and that the business affairs of the company were in a healthy condition as a result of this increased business. He also pointed out that the company would grow with the additional working capital which will be available after the present plan of refinancing is carried out.

AMPLE ASSETS
Mr. Kanik stated that the company has ample assets and is willing to warrant the issuing of this stock. It was stated during the hearing that the value of the present outstanding stock would be increased at least 100 to 150 per cent after the plans of reorganization had been carried out. This increase in the value of outstanding stock will be accomplished by adjusting the promotion stock which was issued at the time of the consolidation of the Kaukauna Machine Company of this city and the Moloch Company of Chicago. It is the intention of the company to retire all outstanding obligations and provide for a working capital of approximately $100,000 which will be sufficient to operate the company on a sound basis.

Plans for reorganizing the Moloch Company were adopted at a meeting of stockholders of the company in February. Officials of the company are: R. M. Kanik, president and general manager; J. M. Braun, Appleton, vice president; Joseph Jansen, treasurer; Hugo Weisenbach, secretary. Directors are officers and F. H. Towley, Charles Jacobson, H. S. Cooke, F. Nelson and Charles E. Raught. The company provides employment for 75 men.

ALL SHOOTERS INVITED

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Gun club will hold a practice shoot at 1:30 Sunday afternoon at the club grounds on the north side. This is to be preliminary to the registered Northeastern Trapshooting league to be held at Kaukauna Gun club grounds May 30. The May 30 shoot will be the big contest of the year. Coleman, Oconto, Kaukauna, Green Bay, Appleton and Oconto gun clubs are members of the league. Everyone interested in shooting is welcome to participate in the preliminary shoot.

TEACHERS TRYOUT THEIR ANNUAL PLAY AT DALE

Kaukauna—The "Poor Married Man," a 3-act comedy, will be presented by the graduating class of Outagamie Rural Normal school at Dale Friday, May 7 and will be presented in the auditorium at Kaukauna the following Tuesday. All the profits from the play will be put into a fund to pay the expenses of the senior class on the trip to Madison and Kilbourn at the close of school. The graduating class decided to take this trip in place of the commencement exercises of other years.

SUMMER SESSION AT RURAL NORMAL SCHOOL

Kaukauna—Another summer session of the Outagamie Rural Normal school will be held this year. Classes will start July 12 and will close Aug. 14 and will run six days a week. By holding classes six days a week a full six weeks course can be given in five weeks. The classes are open to rural normal school students who wish to continue their work and to high school students who care to make up work. Eighty-six students attended the summer session of the school last year and more are expected this year, according to W. P. Hagman, principal of the school. The teachers chosen this far are W. P. Hagman, Hubert Ludwig and Miss Bronson. Several more teachers will be added to the faculty if the number of students enrolled warrants it.

An attempt will be made to arrange the program so that classes will be held in the morning only. Students may enroll for the courses now.

VANDERHEIDEN FUNERAL
HELD SATURDAY MORNING

Kaukauna—The funeral of George Vanderheiden, 74, 210 E. Division-st., was held Saturday morning at St. Cross church with the Rev. P. P. Lockman in charge. Interment was in north side Catholic cemetery. Mr. Vanderheiden died Wednesday morning after a long illness. He is survived by the widow, four sons, Henry, town of Lawrence; Theodore, Wrightstown; Peter, town of Kaukauna; George, Kaukauna; five daughters, Mrs. Frank Van Lanen and Mrs. William Mackers, Wrightstown; Mrs. Albert Van Vreede, Mrs. Charles Wagner and Mrs. R. Foegen, Kaukauna; one brother, Peter, Green Bay.

PIGEON FANCIERS HOLD FIRST RACE OF SEASON

Kaukauna—Two hundred pigeons belonging to the Kaukauna Pigeon club were shipped to Waupaca Saturday morning for a club race Sunday morning. Ten members shipped pigeons. The birds will be released at 10 o'clock Sunday morning and are expected here shortly before noon. Timers will be used to determine the winner of the race. This is the first official race of the Kaukauna Pigeon club this season, but from now on there will be many races and each time the distance will be increased.

There are many pigeon fanciers in Kaukauna and the present club has shown a tremendous growth in the past few years.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Knight of Columbus ladies held their regular meeting Thursday afternoon in the club rooms on Wisconsin-ave. The afternoon was spent in playing cards and prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Alphonse Nagan and Mrs. Julius Goetzman; at five hundred by Mrs. May Maurer and Mrs. P. J. Miller of Sherwood; at bridge by Mrs. Lester Van Roy of Appleton and Mrs. E. G. Driesen. Hostesses for the next meeting in two weeks are Mrs. Richard Wilpolt, Mrs. Otto Aufreiter, Mrs. Mary Baykora, Mrs. August Brandt of Kaukauna, and Mrs. P. A. Smith and Mrs. Herbert Sullivan of Combined Locks. Mrs. Frank Grogan and Mrs. Forrest Banning were elected delegates to the state conference of the Catholic Women's Societies to be held in Stevens Point in May.

Mrs. J. Henningson entertained the Missionary society of Immanuel Reformed church at her home Thursday afternoon. The newly elected officers took their office. The officers of the society are: Mrs. J. J. Haas, president; Mrs. E. L. Worthman, vice president; Mrs. F. Grimmer, secretary; Mrs. G. Arning, treasurer.

The Ladies Aid society of Trinity Lutheran church held a box social in the school auditorium Friday night. The evening was spent in playing rock.

CIRCUIT COURT
OPENS MONDAY17 Cases Listed on Calendar for Waupaca - co Court
Session

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Next Monday, May 3, the spring term of circuit court for Waupaca-co. will be opened here with Judge Park of Stevens Point on the bench. The criminal calendar is one of the smallest in years, there being but 17 cases listed. The case that will attract the greatest attention is that of the state vs. Arthur LaValley, who is charged with raping a Big Falls girl. The coming trial will be the third time the case has been tried in circuit court. The first time the jury disagreed, and the second time LaValley was found guilty and sentenced to ten years in state prison at Waupun. After serving several months of his sentence, his attorney, L. D. Smith of this city, made an appeal to the supreme court, with the result that a new trial was ordered. Last October LaValley was brought back to Waupaca, and not being able to raise the required amount of bail, he has been an inmate in the county jail ever since.

State vs. Everett McCellen, assault and driving a gun.

State vs. Roy Rickaby, uttering forged paper.

State vs. Arthur LaValley, rape.

There are 23 cases, which are issues of fact for jury, and four cases of issues of law for the court. The jury selected to report Monday morning is a panel of 36 representing nearly every section of the county.

There are but two petitions for naturalization. They are: Charles Sarmiento Thompson and Albert Louis Block.

The criminal cases are as follows:

State vs. Henry Preuss, embezzlement.

State vs. Edward Hummel, bastardy.

State vs. Clarence J. Barr, abandonment.

State vs. Bernie Paulson, abandonment.

State vs. Herbert Valle, abandonment.

State vs. Gerold Fisher, abandonment.

State vs. Ernest Manske, abandonment.

State vs. John Peterson, abandonment.

State vs. Marshall Ehle, illegal sale, possession and transportation of liquor.

State vs. Rudolph Martin, malicious injury to automobile.

State vs. J. Speigel, illegal possession and traffic in liquor.

State vs. Frank Spiegel, unlawful sale of liquor.

State vs. Martin Kolosso, bastardy.

New London—The May term of circuit court of Waupaca-co. will open on Monday in the courthouse at Waupaca, with Judge Byron B. Parks presiding. The names of twenty-two men and fourteen ladies have been drawn on the jury list, including Grant Stinson of this city. Jacob Werner of Clintonville were the jury commissioners.

The session will be especially interesting to local people as the trial of Everett McCellan, former police officer of this city will be heard. McCellan, who is charged with shooting Ed Wolfarth of this city during an attempted jail break by the latter last October, was tried in local police court and bound over to the May term of circuit court on three counts, for intentionally pointing and aiming a revolver at Wolfarth, for shooting the defendant while not in the official discharge of his duty, and on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm while not in the discharge of his duty. The case, if tried, will be prosecuted by Otto L. Olen, district attorney of Waupaca-co., while W. J. Butler, city attorney of New London, will defend McCellan.

The case is interesting in the fact that it will probably decide for this community whether or not an officer of the law has a legal right to use a gun in stopping a person who is resisting the efforts of an officer to bring him into custody.

ARLEN PICTURE

More than the usual interest attaching to the coming of a picture is attached to the arrival of Robert T. Kane's latest first national production, "The Dancer of Paris," which will open at the Elite theatre next Monday.

This is because "The Dancer of Paris" is the first story by Michael Arlen to reach the screen. Although the internationally popular author of "The Green Hat" and "These Charming People" has enjoyed no end of stage success, until the filming of "The Dancer of Paris" his work has not been done in pictures.

"The Dancer of Paris" is a typically Arlenesque tale its central figure being an American girl, popular in the Montmartre of Paris. Her tragedies and romances from a screen story of unusual distinction and charm.

Kane sought far and wide for many days it is said, before he finally selected Dorothy Mackaill for the title role. Her choice was determined because of her more nearly resembling the type of girl suggested in the Arlen story than any one of a score of other actresses considered for the part.

Conway Tearle stars opposite Miss Mackaill, in the supporting cast are Robert Cain, Paul Ellis, Henry Vibart and Charles Craig.

SWANSON VEHICLE, WRITTEN
Swanson Vehicle, Written by Fannie Hurst, Shows Star as Lively Society Girl

If "The Untamed Lady," coming Monday to Fischer's Appleton Theatre, had nothing more to recommend it than the fact that Gloria Swanson stars in it, it would still be well worth seeing, for Gloria can always be depended upon for a capital performance.

However, the glamorous Miss Swanson is amply supported in this instance by a story worthy of her talents—one, in fact especially written for her by Fannie Hurst, noted American author—by a surrounding cast of capable and experienced players, including Lawrence Gray, Joseph Smiley, Thomas Holding and Charles Graham.

The plot centers around Gloria, in the role of a wealthy society heiress with an ungovernable temper. Of course, any one endowed by nature with more than the average share of good looks and who, in addition, is the proud possessor of twenty million dollars, has a perfect right to be independent, but Gloria does so to extremes in doing as she goes—darn please.

Cheering for talk while sitting in the Princeton stand during a Yale-Princeton football game, after a smart social function in a bathhouse, interrupting a famous musical at an exclusive musical—these are some of her exploits that cause her friends much anguish of spirit. Incidentally, they are responsible for her punctured romances, since love and temper do not mix.

Along comes Larry Gray, fiance No. 4, and then the fun begins in earnest! Larry gets the idea into his head that it is up to him to tame her and he almost breaks his neck before he realizes that Gloria doesn't take kindly to his caveman stuff. However love finds a way in the end, and everything turns out happily.

Of more than ordinary interest are the yacht scene, showing Gloria shaking coal in the boiler room at the height of a raging storm. An exciting horseback chase, in which Gray takes a dangerous fall is another of the striking highlights in the picture.

PLAY "THE WHEEL" MAKES POWERFUL MOTION PICTURE
If you like your thrills and drama blended nicely and in pleasant doses "The Wheel" at the New Bijou Theatre Monday and Tuesday will fill the requirements to a "T," according to advance reports on this William Fox screen version of John Golden's stage success.

Dealing with the lure and vice of gambling, Winchell Smith has shown in very effective fashion the ends to which a man may go who is forced to the wall bit by bit, through losses in the corridors of Chance.

Do not take from this, however, that "The Wheel" is a bitter, gruesome narrative of concentrated grief. It is a highly dramatic picture with a story that will interest every type of picture fan, be he man, woman or child. There is pictured the colorful atmosphere of the race track, the dramatic tension of the roulette wheel and the card table, and intertwined is a love story that is beautiful and romantic.

The cast of "The Wheel" is headed by Harrison Ford and Claire Adams, both of whom are said to do some of the finest work of their careers. Other players to be seen are Mahlon Hamilton, David Torrence, Clara Horton, Margaret Livingston and George Harris.

BOILER WORKS GROWING WITH RAPID STRIDES

May Erect New Factory in Near Future if Business Continues

One of Appleton's infant industries which is rapidly coming to the front is the Fox River Boiler Works on S. Bounds-st., near Appleton Junction. It was organized only a little over a year ago by E. J. Fernal and A. W. Van Ryzin and in that short time an extensive business in Wisconsin and surrounding states has been built up. The shop is the scene of much activity in manufacturing new boilers, tanks and smokestacks and repairing of old tanks and boilers.

At present the industry is housed in a frame building but if business continues to come in as it has during the last year a new factory building will be erected soon, according to the proprietors.

The company has recently added to its equipment a huge steel plate roller, the largest machine of this kind north of Milwaukee. The roller weighs 14 tons and because of its great size can roll out a much larger boiler or tank plate than the ordinary sized machine. Large plates in the manufacture of a boiler have several distinct advantages. In the first place the larger the plates used the stronger the tank or boiler will be because it will contain fewer joints and seams. It takes less time to manufacture a boiler when a larger roller is used as much less riveting is required. Then too a boiler made of large plates is less expensive because of the cost of riveting many smaller plates.

The Fox River Boiler Co. always keeps a large stock of boiler plate and other stock on hand so that repairs can be made on any type of boiler or tank without any delay. About four carloads of stock are kept at the shop.

The company has just installed four large water tanks at Niagara. These were nine feet in diameter and 14 feet high. Five hoppers recently were sent to the Leach Co. of Oshkosh, manufacturers of paving equipment. Mr. Fernal is president of the concern. Mr. Van Ryzin is vice president and treasurer, and Giles Courtney is secretary.

WARM WEATHER BOOSTS DEMAND FOR LUMBER

The spread of spring weather throughout the country is proving a great stimulus to lumber demand. Wholesale sales last week in important distributing territories have increased as much as twenty percent over the level of the previous week. This improvement, it is estimated, has been the American Lumberman, Chicago, is too recent to be reflected in figures for the last week or which complete reports are available, that ended April 17, and it has not yet extended to all consuming regions. With increased demand has come a stiffening of prices. A shifft of the softwoods so far. They had reached rockbottom during the long spell of bad weather, that has been restricting demand in the last month or so, and many producers believe they will be justified in putting moderate increases into effect as soon as consumption reaches seasonable volume.

During the week ended April 17, three hundred forty-seven mills had a production of 10 percent above their normal, but booked orders for only 5 percent above it. Their equipment, however, practically equalled their actual production. For the first fifteen weeks of the year, the principal softwood mills received orders for 8 percent more than they cut, and shipped 6 percent more, so that statistically they continue in a very strong position.

Coast fir mills sold 2 percent more than they cut during the week ended April 17. The rail trade is the strongest division of the market though, with signs of strength developing, foreign buyers are taking larger amounts. Rail trade is sure to expand, and when California and Atlantic coast distributors begin stocking for the building these regions have ahead of them, some stiffening in the list may be expected.

Business And Home Should Be Operated On Budget

Babson Park, Florida — Roger W. Babson today continues his "Family Investment Talks," by discussing the subject of "Budgets." He believes that every business and every home should be run on a Budget System and that no business is too large or home too small to adopt such a system. Says Mr. Babson:

"A very large proportion of business and family troubles have been due to operating without a budget. Partners both in business and marriage get on nicely so long as there is plenty of cash in the bank. It is when bills come in and there is no money with which to pay them that trouble begins. Now there is only one way to prevent such catastrophes and that is by telling the dollar where to go instead of asking it where it went."

BUDGETS EXPLAINED
"The first step for a business man when adopting a budget is to estimate carefully what he will receive during the next twelve months. This requires both a knowledge of one's real earnings and of the general business outlook. A business man can learn from his auditor or income tax statements regarding his own real earnings and he can subscribe to a reliable statistical or economic service to learn of the business outlook. In other words, the first step in budget making is to have a fairly correct idea of how much money is coming in. To make an intelligent estimate one must determine whether business the coming year is to be—for instance 20 percent better or 20 percent worse than it was last year. Only after carefully making such an estimate is he prepared to determine what his expenditures will be. For a man on a salary, this first step is simple because it means only taking the salary and adding to it any income received from rents, interest or dividends."

"After knowing one's income it is fairly simple to plan a scale of expenditures in accordance therewith. There first is the Interest Charge which both business men and housewives must plan for; next comes Insurance Premiums. There also are other fixed expenses which must be met. I do not consider rent or even wages paid to be fixed. A business man's rent and payroll depend somewhat upon the character of his business, but can usually be decreased or increased within certain reasonable limits. The business man should religiously spend upon advertising a fixed percentage of his gross and should secure to use this percentage, or set it aside for future use, when business is increasing so as to make up for the decrease when gross business is declining. Hence the second step in adopting a budget is to ascertain what the best practice is in the same general line of business. That is, go to five successful competitors in your city and ascertain the percentage of their income going to:

(1) Interest and Insurance premiums.
(2) Rent.
(3) Advertising.
(4) Payroll divided into manufacturing, selling, etc.
(5) Miscellaneous.
(6) Overhead.
(7) Profit.

ADJUSTING BUDGETS
"Space does not here permit me to go into further details as to business budgets, but if you will write Melvin L. Morse, Wellesley Hills, Mass., and tell him the kind of business you are in and your gross income for the past five years he will give you without charge whatever statistics have been gathered showing what percentage of your income should go to the various things such as rent, wages, overhead, etc."

"Many a business man, and housewife as well, is handicapped today by a too large proportion of the income going for rent. Another bad leak both in business and home is the Labor Item. Both of these items are easily remedied. I never saw a business or a home where the labor item could not be cut down, often to the advantage of all concerned. The best thing that could happen to a home budget would be to let the servants go so the children would be forced to help with the work of the home. The great universities which have built up America are not the Harvards or Yales, but rather the wood boxes and dish pans."

"Merely the work of making out a budget is a real education for a business man or his wife. $3,000 a year is considered today a good income. Ninety-three percent of the people of this country have incomes less than $5,000 a year. The man with such an income thinks he can easily spend $75 or more a month, or $900 per year for rent; while the wife thinks she is entitled to $400 a year for clothes. When one makes a budget, however, he finds that with an income of $5,000 such allowances are too great. The monthly rent must be cut to $50 or $60 as a maximum; while the good wife must be held down to $250 for both clothes and spending money. Here is how it works out in one case:

Item	Amount
Rent	$500
Rates, taxes, etc.	300
Life insurance	300
Season ticket car fare	75
Meals in town	150
Traveling, holiday and entertainment	200
Clothing, etc. for husband	150
Other subscriptions	75
Medical and Dental	75
Gas and light	60
Coal and wood	120
School fees	100
Children's clothes, books, etc.	100

Total $3,000
Total $3,000

FAMILY BUDGETS
"Readers really interested in budgets for a small family should write the National Thrift Committee, 317 Madison Avenue, New York City. This committee will gladly send you, free of charge, full particulars. Very good work has already been done by other organizations for various groups of people. For instance, after a careful study of a large number of policemen in many southern cities, the following was agreed upon as a model policeman's budget."

Item	Family Three	Family Four
Groceries	$40.00	$50.00
Rent	18.00	20.00
Water	1.25	1.25
Light	3.00	1.00
Clothing and Shoes	15.00	16.00
Laundry and Washing	4.00	4.75
Barber & Recreations	3.00	3.75
Fuel	5.00	5.25
Insurance	2.25	2.75
School supplies, etc.	2.00	4.25
Incidentals	2.70	3.00
Church, Benevolence	3.25	4.00
Medical supplies, etc.	2.00	3.00

Total $92.45 $119.00
"These are close estimates without anything added monthly for such items as operations, dentistry, spells of sickness and any attempt at investing or trying to buy a home, furniture or chattels."

"To operate a family budget successfully it is advisable to pay cash for everything except things like rent, milk, telephone, etc., which have a given monthly charge. Moreover, you must be cleaned up with all bills paid and a month's budget in cash in advance when starting out. Then you should have a tin box with envelopes for each of the other divisions of the budget and when dividing up the monthly income put the required amount in each envelope and when paying take the needed amount out of said envelope. It may be wise to use a bank account for such items as insurance, taxes, etc. (bill paid only once a year, but for which money is put aside each month), but if you are to operate on a cash basis you will have no bills to pay by check."

PRESENT BUSINESS OUTLOOK
"Those making up budgets now are asking about the business outlook for the next twelve months. Frankly, it will be no better in most lines, and in most sections, than a year ago. Very few business men can safely count on better business and very few families can count on higher wages in the immediate future. Not only have still the Great World War pay for, but the installment business has been eating into the vitals of both trade and homes. To what extent no one knows, but it is very serious. The stock market smashes of the past two months were largely due to investors realizing how large a proportion of automobile and other merchandise sales today are not actual sales. To mix installment buying and budgeting is like trying to mix oil and water. Hence, I say that one of the first things to do when going on a budget system is to quit buying on time."

"As I have already suggested, both heads of business and families get great surprises when preparing a budget. The very work of dividing one's income into different divisions is an education in finance. One is astonished to find how little he can allot to certain items and how it is absolutely necessary to cut down expenditures which heretofore seemed reasonable. If everyone would start today and make out a budget there would temporarily be tremendous drop in the Babsonchart register of business. But such a drop would fall off, rents would be reduced, and there might be almost a business panic—but if these budgets were kept up business would be better off in the long run and this might be the last panic for a long, long while. Today the Babsonchart stands at 9 percent above normal, compared with 15 percent on January 1, 1926, and 1 percent a year ago."

SCHOOL MATES AGAIN UNITED IN MOVIE STUDIO
Culver City, Calif.—(AP)—Some ten years ago, Pauline Starke, Bessie Love and Carmel Myers were school mates in Los Angeles. Each wore her hair in the prevailing pigtail fashion.

A little later, they became members of the D. W. Griffith Fine Art stock company, from which came many of the present day movie stars. Now the three girls are at work in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios here—and each wears a wig. As the heroine of "Love's Blindness," Miss Starke's boyish bob is supplanted by long, tresses. Miss Myers' coal black hair is covered with a titian wig for her part in the picture of "Toto."

The little orphan in Alice Fegan Rine's "Lovey Mary" is Bessie Love's role. Once again she is wearing pig-tails.

NINE MAGAZINES ARE PRINTED IN APPLETON SHOP

Badger Printing Company Adds More Equipment to Take Care of Its Work

Few people in Appleton know that weekly movie programs for 28 motion picture theaters in various sections of the United States are printed in Appleton, nor do they realize that 65,000 copies of magazines printed here are mailed to all parts of the country every month. All this work is done at the Badger Printing Co., located at 720 W. Washington-st. The company has established an enviable record in getting magazine contracts in the five years of its existence and now prints nine publications, seven monthly and two quarterly periodicals.

The movie programs are four or eight page leaflets with attractive cover designs and from two to four pages of syndicated material on motion picture subjects on the inside sheets. Some of the inside sheets are left blank for advertising or program material theater managers want to use. Some of the theaters use only four page leaflets and print their program and put the program on the inside pages.

The monthly magazines printed by the local concern include the "Wisconsin Retail Merchants Advocate," trade journal of the Wisconsin Retailers association; "F. G. Builder," monthly publication of the Fuller-Goodman Lumber Co.; "The Correspondent," monthly periodical of the Aid Association for Lutherans; "Beauty Magazine," "Motion Picture Review," and "Screen," movie magazines; and "The Wisconsin Magazine." The Badger Printing Co., has just taken over the contract for printing the last named publication, which enjoys a wide circulation throughout the state and is extensively read in libraries and public schools. The magazine is edited in Madison and published by the Retail Publishers Inc. of this city.

The extensive work done by the Badger Printing Co., in magazine printing has served to increase the amount of local job work done at the plant. Complete satisfaction is given on all job printing projects brought to the plant. The extensive work done in the magazine field has made necessary the addition of more equipment so that local printing jobs are made possible. Printing of advertising matter, office forms, programs, pamphlets and booklets for any occasion is made a specialty at the Badger plant. The concern is equipped to do color printing of all kinds.

SOAP VAT, FERTILIZER END OF MILLION HORSES

Portland—(AP)—Out of the glories of mountain range and plain into the soap vat or fertilizer bin is the ignominious destiny that seems in prospect for the western mustang—small, mostly useless, and numerous. For those in the Pacific Northwest, this lowly end approached appreciably close when a Portland company began the construction of a plant in which this rendering will be done.

The sturdy, roving bands of under-sized horseflesh eat off the range that is needed by stockmen and upon which depends, to a large extent, the game in the western states. In Montana alone it was estimated that there are 250,000 of these wild horses. Other thousands perplex the livestock interests of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada and Colorado, swelling the total to a million or more for which no ordinary commercial market exists except for the leather and by-product value.

Dr. E. E. Chase, Portland city veterinarian, has added to the indictment against the mustang a charge that is as deadly as the diseases among cattle and sheep.

BROTHER SPIRIT PERCOLATES IN BUSINESS LIFE

Fraternalism Makes All Men
Brothers, Holmes Says at Fraternal Program

The United States is great because of the spirit of friendship and fraternalism which exists here, not because of its wealth and progress, Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of First Methodist church, said in his address on fraternalism at the National Fraternal day program in Lawrence chapel Friday evening.

That the man who stands alone without friends, is the most pathetic being in the world because he is the epitome of failure in all things worth most in life, was maintained by the speaker while the greatest and the richest man all things considered, is he who is richest in friends and who is given the opportunity to understand them.

Human beings, when taken as individuals are not great factors in the affairs of the world—but humanity when it is organized, is one of the most powerful influences in the destiny of the world," Dr. Holmes declared.

National Fraternal day is observed, he explained, to honor the spirit of fraternalism and brotherhood, regardless of creed, and to uplift the tone of American life. It helps to enthroned friendship in the hearts of mankind, and it promotes a proper understanding between individuals and nations.

ALL MEN BROTHERS
"True fraternalism reaches out in to every corner of the world and calls every man brother. More and more it is entering the business and social life of America, as is manifested by our many luncheon clubs, in which the business man meets his competitor, to find that they have many things in common and that their aspirations and ideals are largely the same," the speaker stated.

That a new patriotism, the patriotism of peace and universal harmony is being promoted by fraternalism as it exists in the world today, was the declaration of Dr. Holmes.

All the benefits of a college education may be obtained from the associations and activities of the various fraternal organizations, according to Gustave Keller, chairman of the committee on arrangements, who delivered the address of welcome Friday evening.

Aside from the purely material advantages, such as insurance, pensions, and the like, which they give, the fraternal organizations are great quasi-religious, educational, patriotic, social and charitable bodies, Mr. Keller pointed out.

FRATERNAL HISTORY
He traced briefly the history of fraternalism and its influence on American life, particularly as it concerns the home. Between fifty and sixty millions of people, he estimated, are members of the various fraternal organizations in the United States.

Because of the absence of the Rev. W. J. Fitzmaurice, who is ill, the invocation was given by the Rev. William Kiernan of St. Mary church.

Roll call of the 28 Appleton fraternal societies which cooperated to promote National Fraternal day was read by Mrs. Clyde F. Caverl.

An American flag was presented the fraternal societies in behalf of the Oney Johnston Post of the American legion by George C. Dane, commander, who briefly traced the history of the flag and its meaning. It was accepted for the societies by Albert C. Rule, mayor of Appleton, who in acknowledging the gift, declared that the patriotism of cities is the foundation upon which the national patriotism rests.

Three selections, rendered by the 120 Field Artillery band, won enthusiastic applause from a fair sized audience.

Dresses in the Ladies' Home Journal Dress-making Contest should be at the Fair Store not later than 5:30 p. m. Monday.

Dance at Gairor's, Mackville, Thurs., May 6. Kansas City Artists.

SPEAKER

Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of First Methodist church, was the principal speaker at the Fraternal day program in Lawrence Memorial chapel Friday night.

RURAL SPEAKING CONTESTS TO BE ANNUAL AFFAIRS

Big Crowd at Courthouse to Hear Country School De-
claimers

Miss Marion Towne representing Shiocton in the primary section and Miss Irma Mielke representing Seymour in the grammar section won first annual Outagamie-co grade schools declamatory contest. Miss Towne spoke "The Dead Doll" and Miss Mielke's declamation was "The Soul of the Violin."

Second place in the primary section was awarded to Miss Agnes Burnmeister, Clairo, who spoke "Unfortunate Bennie." Other speakers were Miss Esther Ziesemer, Isaar, "Miss Simon's Bonnet," Miss Genevieve Kainz, Seymour, "The Leak in the Dike," Marlin Klemm, Bear Creek, "When Ma and Sue Entertain."

Miss Violet Mansfield, Bear Creek, won second place in the grammar section with "The Mourning Veil." Other speakers were Alvin Peters, Clairo, "Gettysburg Address," fourth place was a tie between Orville Geise, Kimberly, "Burgoyne's Surrender" and Miss Ione Fletcher, Shiocton, "The Inventor's Wife." Miss Zepora Ziesemer, Isaar, "The Inventor's Wife."

Approximately 100 rooters, friends and relatives of the contestants attended the contest. No cheering was permitted but it was evident that loyal rooters were finding it difficult to hold back their applause when the contestants from their school finished speaking.

Kimberly graded school brought the largest delegation of rooters, having nearly 25 students on hand to back their champion. All of the schools were well represented in the audience.

While the judges were preparing decisions, an informal discussion was held among the teachers on success of the first contest. It was the unanimous decision of the teachers that the contest should be made an annual event. A survey showed that approximately 100 students had entered the preliminary local contests. Teachers said it was good training for the children.

Thirty one girls and boys entered the preliminary contest at Shiocton graded school and Seymour was second with 15 students.

"After viewing the success of the first contest we will work harder to make an annual affair and so popular with the students that they will look ahead to it for many weeks," said A. G. Meating, superintendent of county schools, in a brief address. "The children did fine work considering that this was the first contest of its kind and the great number entered proves its popularity."

Mr. Meating presented small loving cups to winners of first places in the primary and grammar sections and also awarded a larger cup to the schools represented by the winners. The cups are to be the property of the winners.

Judges in the contest were Prof. M. H. Small of Wilson Junior high school, Miss Elva Larson of Outagamie Rural Normal school at Kau-

KUESTER AGAIN ELECTED HEAD OF UTILITY PLANT

Lipske Tells Council He Isn't Qualified for Position

Menasha—J. H. Kuester was re-elected superintendent of water and light at a special meeting of the common council Friday evening following the resignation of August Lipske, who was elected to the position at the meeting of April 20. Mr. Lipske gave as the reason for his resignation that he did not feel qualified for the position, the duties of which he was to have assumed Saturday, May 1.

In filling the vacancy Mayor N. G. Rummel made a plea for the election of a competent person. His nationality and religion made no difference to him if only he was competent, the mayor said. He complimented Mr. Lipske on the action he took under the circumstances and called for a rising vote of thanks to which all the aldermen responded. On the informal ballot J. H. Kuester received eight out of ten votes and on the formal ballot seven out of ten and was declared elected.

Another resignation presented was that of Henry Wilpolt as assistant chief of the fire department. In his resignation he said if it was agreeable to the police and fire commission he was willing to serve as captain of the volunteer department to which position he was elected. Arthur Gutzman was recommended for the position by the commission but withdrew his name. The revised recommendations of the police and fire commission were: Chief, Paul Theimers; assistant chief, Jack Dombrowski; captain, Henry Wilpolt.

The rules and regulations governing the fire department, prepared by the commission were read by the clerk and were adopted. Recommendation of the park board for the purpose of a strip of land 300 feet long and 175 feet wide facing Cleveland street for park purposes before it is built up was referred to the committee of the whole and the finance committee to bring in their recommendations. The matter of the appointment of a motorcycle officer was put over until the monthly meeting Tuesday night.

The matter of the vacancy on the school board was referred to the second ward aldermen. It was decided to permit no more paper to be deposited on the dumping grounds. It was suggested that the hauling of rubbish to the dumping grounds be confined to certain days of each week. Mayor Rummel recommended that some of the recreation funds be used during the summer months for supervised play for school children. It was brought out that the new concrete tennis courts are in almost constant use.

Menasha—Miss Edna Robertson was elected president of the Economics club Friday afternoon at the annual meeting at the public library. Other officers elected are: First vice president, Mrs. E. W. Griswold; second vice president, Mrs. T. E. McGillican; secretary, Mrs. Ben Metternack; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Schmalz; Mrs. S. L. Spencer conducted a quiz on the year's program. Annual reports were submitted by the retiring secretary and treasurer, Mrs. T. E. McGillican and Mrs. G. W. Loomans. The hostesses were Mrs. F. Page and Mrs. E. G. Sonnenberg.

Mrs. W. O. Allen and Mrs. John Hercher of Neenah entertained 55 guests at a 1 o'clock luncheon Saturday afternoon at Hotel Menasha. The luncheon was followed by bridge.

CHARGE GIRL WITH LARCENY OF CLOTHES

Neenah—Genevieve Snickpepper, 19, claiming LaCrosse as her home town, was arrested Friday afternoon in Oshkosh on a warrant charging her with larceny committed in Neenah. She also was charged for jumping a board bill in this city. The young lady came to Neenah about two weeks ago and engaged a room at the Valley Inn. Friday she went to Oshkosh, taking with her a new coat, money and other articles which she had taken from the home of a Neenah family where she had gone to care for the children it is alleged. She was placed in county jail.

or and counselman here, was born in Wausau, Aug. 28, 1877, and graduated from the local high school in 1894. He then completed a course at a Green Bay business college, after which he became associated with his father, A. G. Nelson, in the lumber, feed and coal business.

He was married Nov. 12, 1903, to Miss Katharine Jane Murphy of Kenosha, Ind., who with one daughter, Josephine, a student at the University of Wisconsin, survive.

Mr. Nelson served as a member of the city council from 1902 to 1908, was a member of the board of education from 1909 to 1911 and was mayor from 1918 to 1922. He was a member of St. Mark church and Knights of Pythias lodge. Besides his widow and daughter, he is survived by his father, Hon. A. G. Nelson, and a brother, Van Nelson.

OBSCURE LAWYER BESTED LINCOLN

Search Records for Name of Boy Attorney Who Defeated Lincoln in Murder Trial

Carthage, Ill.—(AP)—Search for the name of an unknown boy attorney who defeated Abraham Lincoln and T. Lyle Dickey when they defended a Schuyler county murderer in May, 1839, and for a legal document filed in the case in Lincoln's handwriting, is being made in Carthage.

Statements that Lincoln would never defend a murderer are inaccurate, as court records will show, said J. A. Thompson, an old resident of Monmouth, who is acquainted with the case.

"Lincoln was a lawyer practicing before the bar, just as any other attorney," Mr. Thompson declared.

"Somewhere in Carthage there is a motion in arrest of judgment in Lincoln's own handwriting, but that was taken from the records years ago, and has never been found since. The motion was overruled, and the murderer was hanged on May 19, 1839.

"The multilined records of the court and tradition give the names of the attorneys for the defense as Abraham Lincoln and T. Lyle Dickey, who later became a justice in the Illinois Supreme Court. No records of the man's name who appeared against them can be found, however.

"The wording of the old records of Hancock county court is that 'William Frame killed a man of unpronounceable name in a saloon brawl in Frederick, Schuyler county,' and so on. Other records have the name of the murderer as 'Folding Frame.' The murderer and the man he killed were probably transients for neither was known to the settlers. The case went to Hancock county on a change of venue from Schuyler county."

ENGLISH SPECULATION CALLED FLORIDABBLING

The English, with a national weakness for puns and for coupling words together, have hit upon a new term—"Floridabbling"—to describe dabbbling in Florida real estate.

Business men and piradilly clubmen returning to old haunts here and there, admit they've "been over Floridabbling a bit."

Men and women with titles and social positions likewise are being attracted to the new American Riviera in ever increasing numbers. They learn the language of the country, talk about "developments," "lots" and "high pressure salesmanship," all of which is Greek to the stay-at-home folks of this island who have never heard a realtor called anything but an "estate agent" or a lot calling anything but a "plot."

Florida seems to have the same effects as the rest of the United States upon visiting Englishmen. Upon returning home, he writes critically and copiously of his experiences, reactions and complexes.

FASTING IS A CURE ALL PARIS DOCTORS CLAIM

Paris—(P)—A crusade to introduce fasting as a cure for most human ills being preached in Paris by Dr. Lipinska, and supported by six prominent physicians, has caused Parisians to ask if science is to deprive life of its last pleasure.

"Life is not so gay," remarked one commentator. "It will hardly be worth living if science is going to deprive us of one of its last pleasures. Love is full of disillusion; success never satisfies ambition, and fortune brings a crushing load of taxation. Nothing is left but the table and friends, that is good friends around a good dish, washed down by a good bottle! Are we to invite our friends to a fast?"

Madame Lipinska, the doctor heading the crusade, is preaching the marvelous effect of a fortnight's fasting on the intelligence, the memory, the imagination, the will and even the physical beauty in the disappearance of wrinkles, clearness of complexion, suppleness of the body, etc.

The doctor herself is a wonderful example of will power. Blind for many years, she has refused to allow the loss of sight interfere with her studies, research work and travels.

THIRD in the World

-and Sales still mounting

During the first three months of 1926 Dodge Brothers, Inc., built and sold more motor vehicles than any other manufacturer in the world, except Ford and Chevrolet.

71,189 retail deliveries were made by Dodge Brothers Dealers in the United States and Canada between January second and April third. This represents a gain of 37 per cent over the same period last year and 69 per cent over the first quarter of 1924!

Third largest in the world! And sales CONTINUING to mount week after week to new record breaking levels.

In fact, during the week ending April 24th retail sales reached the remarkable total of 9,566—the greatest single week in Dodge Brothers history!

These figures are all the more significant when you realize that the gain of the industry as a whole over last year is only 12 per cent.

There could be no more convincing evidence that today's product is regarded as better than ever before and that the present prices make it the most impressive value Dodge Brothers have ever offered.

THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY
HENRY RAND, 53, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN, because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Milwaukee, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy bring Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Milwaukee and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy accuses her of marrying for money.

Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police picture as IRE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, bumps over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her and she breaks their engagement.

LIEUTENANT O'DAY, a police friend of Jimmy's, tells him of a boyhood romance between Henry Rand and a girl named MARIE REAL. Jimmy goes home to his room to find Barry Colvin there with a ring that belonged to Henry Rand and that is inscribed with the name "Marie."

While they are talking a shot is fired through the window.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXV

A Round hole was in the pane, a hole fringed with splintering glass. Jimmy threw the window up with a bang, for the light shining from behind them prevented them from seeing a thing outside.

Glass came tumbling out of the sash and fell about them. . . . Up the street, in the darkness, a fleeing figure. . . .

"There he goes!" Barry grabbed Jimmy's arm in his excitement.

"Climb down the porch," Jimmy led the way and they clambered over the railing, hung by their hands and dropped to the ground.

They ran up the street, but whoever it was that had fired the shot had vanished.

Barry said, as they were returning: "He may be hiding. I don't relish the idea of having him take another shot at us."

But Jimmy had no such fears. A concrete danger—something they could put their fingers on, so to speak—was not half so troublesome. He explained as they ran, the impression he had been experiencing.

"In a way, Barry, it's comforting to know that, after all, it's a human being we're dealing with. There's been something supernatural about this watching, and the letters." . . .

In front of the house, ironically enough, they encountered a policeman, the one O'Day had stationed as a sort of bodyguard since the night Jensen and his companion had followed Jimmy home.

He was just back, he explained, from ringing in at the call box. No, he had heard no shot, hadn't seen anyone.

"The fellow must have been watching—waiting for the right moment," said Barry.

"You didn't get a good look at him?" The policeman had pulled out a notebook.

"No. Just a glimpse of him running away in the darkness. Couldn't even tell you how big he was."

"I'll ring in for some help and we'll search the neighborhood." The policeman seemed troubled. "I'll have to make a report. Sorry I wasn't here at the time. I'm sort of responsible, you know."

"Not your fault," Jimmy assured him. "I'll explain it."

Mrs. King met them at the door, all a-flutter. The shot, it seemed, had awakened her. . . .

She insisted on all the details from Jimmy before she agreed to go back to bed. . . .

"He must have hidden on the porch, Jim," said Barry. He and Jimmy had climbed out of the window and were looking in the room. "That explains the open window that I saw when I came in the room."

"But he couldn't have been out here all the time you were here. You said you had been in the room here nearly all evening."

"No. Chances are he waited outside until I lit the light. Then when he saw who it was he jumped down and came back later. I guess you'll admit now that I was right."

"Right about what?"

"I told you this fellow who has been writing the notes meant business. He meant to kill you, Jim. No question about it. Why don't you listen to reason and come home?"

"Barry, let me ask you a question. If you were in my place would you let a thing like this scare you off? You know why I came here. Would you pack up and leave after getting as far as I have?"

"I don't know how to answer you, Jim. All I know is that I have a very wholesome respect for my scalp. That very likely would be my first consideration."

"That's just talk. You know very well you'd stick it out. This sort of thing can't go on indefinitely. We'll catch those fellows sooner or later."

Slowly was out of the question.

morning. "I ought to go out and look for a job. But what's the use? I can't seem to hold them after I get them."

"The whole thing looks pretty suspicious to me," Barry remarked. "It looks as if your friend of the letters is conspiring to keep you out of work. Probably he realizes that if you go hungry you'll be forced to go home."

"It does look that way," agreed Jimmy. He was thoughtful for a moment. "Still, we might be dead wrong entirely. There are such things as coincidences."

"Why don't you have the police question this man Porter? If someone did approach him, maybe the police can get him to admit it."

"No use. He could easily say, if it came to a showdown, that he was satisfied I wasn't going to fill the bill—or that I wasn't the kind that would stick."

"Well, give up the idea of working while you're here, Jim. I've got enough to tide you over a while, if you'll accept a loan."

"Nothing doing, Barry. Thanks just the same."

And nothing Barry could say would make him change his mind. . . .

There was a letter for Jimmy downstairs. When Mrs. King handed it to him he introduced Barry.

"You won't mind if he stays with me while he's in town?" he asked. And she told him she would be glad to have any of his friends.

Jimmy broke away before she could inquire further into the affair of the previous night. "She's a good old soul, Barry, but like all women, inquisitive. And I don't like explanations though Lord knows she deserves one."

He tore open the letter as they walked downtown. It was from Olga

Maynard, asking him to meet her at noon.

He did, in front of the Mayfair Hotel, and he thought she had never looked prettier.

"You won't mind if I treat you to lunch, will you?" she asked. "It was my idea, meeting you, and it's my invitation."

He demurred, but she was insistent. "All right," he laughed. "You said, 'that you'd come to see me. You haven't. Are you mad with me?'"

"Mad with you? Heavens, no!" He looked at her seriously. "I've been so busy. So many things have happened."

She was toying with her silverware. "You're sure you're not sorry

BRIAND GETS HAIRCUT; TAKES PREMIERS JOB

Paris—(P)—Whenever Aristide Briand of France gets one of his not too frequent haircuts, a whispered rumor immediately goes the rounds of the Senate and Chamber lobbies:

"Do you see him? He's had his hair cut! Look out for a cabinet crisis within the next couple of days! The Old Man is coming back to power!"

For, as a matter of fact, each summons that the veteran statesman has had to the Elysee to be charged with forming a government—and he has done this eight times—has been preceded by a visit to the barber.

Just before his last accession to the premiership, he had declined M. Doumergue's offer, and for the first time in parliamentary history had gone to the Elysee with his bushy hair sticking out on all sides from below his derby. He was sitting in his office at the Quai D'Orsay, when M. Philippe Berthelot, director of the Foreign Office, entered with some papers.

At that moment M. Berthelot's barber was announced, and the director generously offered to let his chief have first call on the hairdresser's services.

"Not on your life!" Briand replied. "I've just declined the premiership, and Herriot is now having his troubles trying to form a ministry. If I get my hair cut, they'll say I'm trying to torpedo him!"

But in view of the fact that he had to go to London for the solemn signing of the Locarno agreements, Briand relented, and went under the shears. In a few hours' time, M. Herriot had failed to compose a ministry, and M. Briand was back in power.

Why He Succeeded

From hard work on a farm to the study of medicine in Cincinnati, where he was graduated, was the course which Dr. R. V. Pierce took.

In his younger days he practiced medicine over a large district. It was then the new oil fields near Titusville, Pa. Finally he determined to put up some of his prescriptions in ready-to-use form in order to reach a larger number of families.

He thus moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary, where he put up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood as well as the Favorite Prescription for women, carefully preparing them from roots, barks, and herbs and placed them with druggists everywhere.

During many years Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists all over the United States than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effects on the stomach and digestive apparatus; an alterative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care free.

Ask your nearest druggist for Dr. Pierce's Discovery, in tablet or liquid form or send the for 1.00 per box of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHERTON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT—CON-TINUED

"Why should you be afraid, Paula?" I asked. "Surely you must know that you have money enough to bring up a child in any luxury you wish." "Oh, yes," she answered somewhat wearily. "I've gone all over that to myself. But, Sally, what if I still would have this insatiable desire for a child of my very own? What if I came to look upon the one that I had adopted as something that was standing between me and what was my malleable right as a woman and a mother? What if I never looked upon the face of the child whom I had pledged not only myself but posterity to love and care for without wishing that in its place was one that was in reality my own? What if I could never get over the idea that between the babe in my arms and myself there was no call of the blood, no ties of the flesh?"

I tried to talk her out of this. Leslie, I tried to make her see how foolish it was and cited to her that you had adopted little Jack, as she knew. "Are you sure, Sally?" Paula asked solemnly. "That Madame Leslie does not feel sorry now that she adopted him? Does she not feel very differently toward her adopted son than she does toward this one which is bone of her bone and flesh of her flesh?"

Leslie has told me many times. I answered, "That she has the same feeling toward each of her children and if there is any difference between them, she thought perhaps she was more devoted to little Jack than to Sydney."

Then, Leslie, I told her how all your friends wished you would have a girl when you were going to have a baby so you would not have to contrast your real mother love which, of course, would be for your own child with the probably very different feeling that was yours for your adopted son.

I told her, Leslie, how many times you had resented this prevalent opinion of your friends to me and how you were very glad that you had always told me since it was born you did not know any difference between the two of them, except that if possible, you loved little Jack better than you did Sydney because he had been with you much longer.

Much to my surprise, Paula kissed the sleeping eyelids of the baby in her arms, and the tears ran down her cheeks and fell upon his unconscious up-turned face. There was a most peculiar look upon her countenance. I could not fathom it. I went back again to that feeling that I had when I first seen her, that there is something in Paula Ferner's life that had changed her whole character and it was something I probably would never know.

Adventures
Of The Twins

THE GAZOOKUMS STEAL EVERYTHING

Gazookums are something like goblins only they usually go about in threes.

Besides their eyes are pink and their ears are sharper. And I have heard it said that their little toes are made of solid silver. But of course one can't be sure as they never takes their shoes off.

There sat three of them now, in the crow's nest in the old dead tree, stuffing themselves with lolly-pops and chocolate buds and bon-bons and throwing the papers and sticks overboard, you might say.

That was the way Mister Tingaling and the Twins found out that they were there.

"Well get you!" shouted the fat little fairyman. "Give back that rent money you stole from the owl. Give it back or we'll come up and get you."

The three little Gazookums looked over the edge of the nest their sharp little noses sucking out like bird bills.

"We don't care! Come on!" They said. "The money's all gone and the candy's all gone. Come and get us if you can."

Mister Tingaling was getting pretty mad about everything by this time, so he shouted "Look out then. We're coming up this very minute." And calling to Nancy and Nick to follow him, he started to climb the tree as fast as he could.

He didn't take the pocket-book along because he couldn't go so fast with it. And the Twins didn't take the rent-book and pencil along because they couldn't go quite so fast either. All three of those precious things lay on the ground at the foot of the tree.

Up and up went the Twins in their magic shoes.

At last they reached the big bare branch that held up the crow's nest. And along it they all ran to catch the Gazookums.

But the three noses were no longer to be seen. And upon reaching the nest and peering over the edge no Gazookums were to be seen either. They had disappeared, pink eyes silver toes and all.

"Oh sugar!" cried poor Mister Tingaling stamping his foot so hard he almost stamped off the old dead branch. "Where did they go? I'd like to know," said Nancy.

"Don't ask me," said Mister Tingaling. "They must have wings as well as silver toes for they never climbed down. I'm sure."

Suddenly they heard someone say "Ooooo! Eeeee!" A whole dollar and a quarter in fairy money, and a nice big pencil with a nice pen, and a pocket-book too. A present for each of us and enough money to buy out the whole candy-store besides. Oh thank you, sir! We're sorry we threw lolly-pop sticks and silver-paper wads at you. We like your friends too even if they haven't got pink eyes. Good-bye."

At this Mister Tingaling fumed. Yes he did indeed—he fumed clear from the top of the old dead tree the whole way down to the ground. But fortunately he fell into a heap of soft moss, and when the Twins reached him he had quite come to.

"Oh," he gasped. "Oh! Oh! Oh! All is lost! The rent money and everything. Oh, those dreadful Gazookums! They are worse than Snitcher. Snatch ever thought of being 'Have they gone?'"

"Yes," said Nick. "And they didn't even leave a footprint behind them."

"They wouldn't," groaned poor Mister Tingaling.

NEENAH HIGHS WALLOP APPLETON IN INDOOR MEET

Inexperienced Macmen
Unable To Get Started
In First Indoor Meet

Christophmen, Led by F. Schneller, Take Every First to Win by 37-13 Score

Taking first places in every event on the program except the relay and scoring clean sweeps in two, Coach "Nig" Christoph's Neenah high school indoor track squad buried a green Appleton high squad under a deluge of points Friday evening in S. A. Cook armory. Neenah, grabbing the contest by a score of 37-13. The meet was part of the annual athletic contest of the James A. Hawley post of the American Legion and the winner received a silver trophy from the post.

It was apparent right from the start that Appleton's squad, inexperienced in indoor track and field athletics, was no match for the Neenah men, who had taken part in the contest for the last three years with Menasha, high as their opponent. The local boys appeared nervous in their first try at "inside stuff" and failed to become accustomed to the work until the end of the meet. This was apparent when three Neenah men entered the finals of the dash event by beating the Orangemen on the start. The boys ran good races after that, but the short distance made the event a matter of start. In the relay where started counted less the local men won their only first in great style. Pfefferle, star Orange, weight man also lost a sure first, when he fouled three times in the shot put because of the indoor floor.

Frank Schneller, rangy center of Neenah cage squads, was the big star of the meet, taking first place in high jump and shot put as well as a third in the hop, skip and jump, for 11 of his team's points. Malouf won the dash, Kellett the rope climb, and Pope the hop, skip and jump for Neenah. Pope also got second in the dash. In the rope climb and hop, skip and jump, Appleton's inexperienced was noticeable.

Two new men, wearing Appleton track suits for the first time, started for the Macmen. Kruse scored seconds in the high jump and shotput, and gives promise of developing in to one of the best high jumpers in the valley conference and another year or two he may be tied for record in the high jump and throw his shoulder out of joint, but the hop, skip and jump and he competed in this event, landing on the head shoulder several times. His condition kept him out of the place-winning class in this event.

Appleton lost five easy points when Pfefferle star rightmanger, fouled in all three of his attempts in the shotput by stepping over the line. The winning heave, by Frank Schneller was 34 feet 6 inches, while the local boy sent the ball an easy 34 feet but stepped over. Appleton lost another event when the high jump was submitted for, just as was the Orange football hunkies had a decided size and weight advantage over Nig Christoph's hopes.

In the relay Strutz, first Appleton man, fell behind, but Frank Cookson made up the distance and Rob Roemer, crack Orange dashman who had been kept out of the dash because of a bad leg, put the Macmen in the lead. At Cookson added a few inches on the final lap. In the hop, skip and

BALTIMORE LOOKS
DANGEROUS AGAIN

Baltimore again looks to be the class of the International League. The Orioles copied their first five brushes, beating Toronto in a double header to reach that figure. Baltimore have been winning pennants with such regularity it would be the circuit world of record were some other team to come through this season, but Dunn's outfit again looks like a tough one to whip.

Withdrawal Of Aussies
From Tennis Regretted

BY ART CARLSON

Australia's recent decision not to enter the Davis tennis cup competition this season is to be regretted. Much of the luster surrounding the blue ribbon classic of netdom will be lost by the absence of the Antipodeans.

Down through the years Australia has turned out a great galaxy of racket boys. And, with very few exceptions, has always stood out as America's most dangerous competitor for the historic trophy emblematic of the world's title.

Since the Davis cup contests were inaugurated in 1900, players from the faraway isles have copied the honors on seven occasions, once leading the procession five times in a row. That was during the 1907-1911 period.

Australia's last triumph was put over in 1919, after the annual jam-boree had been discontinued for four years owing to the World War, and then America had won every championship, heating sensational French team last year. Incidentally, it was the first time in several seasons Australia failed to get in the challenge round.

Australia's greatest combination was made up of Norman Brookes and William Tilden. The pair, who were the best ever developed anywhere, as a team they were virtually invincible.

Brookes and Tilden came to America in 1914 in quest of the Davis trophy. As you may have surmised they returned with it. Brookes and Tilden simply smashed America's team that year. And this despite the fact this country was represented by the famous Maurice McLaughlin, affectionately called "the California Come," Dick Williams and Tom Bundy.

When the proverbial smoke had cleared away Australia had trimmed the foe 3-2. The sensational work of McLaughlin alone saved the Americans from complete annihilation. In case you don't know, the 1914 classic was one of the most thrilling ever staged in tennis history.

Moreover, it marked the final appearance of Brookes and Tilden as a team in the United States. The rumblings of the war were then being heard around the world. Upon their return to their native land, Brookes and Tilden both entered the service. Tilden, no longer after was killed. Brookes came through safely. But the renowned combine had been broken up forever.

In the last few years the Antipodeans have sent over such recognized stars as Pat O'Hara Wood, Gerald Patterson, Jimmy Anderson and others. Brookes also took a whirl at the American volleys. But he was far from the Brookes of old.

With Australia out of the 1926 get-together, France looms as America's foremost challenger. The sterling French duo, Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste, it will be recalled, came to America and company plenty of world while on their last summer. Tilden twice barely pulling through.

Outside of France, Japan stands as the only other entry apt to cause any trouble. And the Nippons are far from possessing as formidable an array as the French.

So, it looks like a reputation of the 1925 affair with France run to upset America's lone string of successes, but with only a gambler's chance of turning the trick.

MAJOR TEAMS END
APRIL WITH HARD
SLUGGING FESTS

Pirates Bury Reds Under Barrage of Hits to Win, 13-4, Yanks Whip Senators

Chicago—(AP)—April ended in a tremendous upturn of the batsmen of the Chicago baseball leagues, the National showing an average of 12 hits and seven runs for each team.

The champion Pittsburgh Pirates, who have suffered much in the early season, again staged a desperate onslaught and buried the Cincinnati Reds, 13 to 4, with Glenn Wright, youthful short field star, smashing out two home runs. Max, Dav Piehnoff and Mays attempted to stop the Pirates. Another slugging battle was staged by the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals. The Chicagoans obtained the decision, 10 to 9, when pitcher Percy Jones shot out a double and scored on Wilson's single in the eleventh. Thirty one safe hits were made in the struggle. Blades of the Cards recording a home run.

Boston's Braves downed New York Giants in a 10-inning game, 5 to 4. McCullum went along easily for the Giants until the seventh, when Southworth batted for him. The winning runs were scored off Fitzsimmons. Shortstop Jackson of the Giants made three misplays and there were two errors by his teammates.

Burleigh Grimes, most ball expert, hurling winning ball for Brooklyn and the Dodgers set up their fifth straight victory of the week, 8 to 4, Philadelphia being the victim. Cox and Wheat of the Dodgers hit homers while the veteran Maranville hit a triple, double and a single in four journeys to the plate.

The American League champion Senators fell again before the powerful bats of the New York Yankees, 7 to 2. Babe Ruth registered his fourth homer of the year. Urban Shocker kept the bingles well distributed although Judge and Rice gathered four base blows. Sammy Gray of the Philadelphia Athletics served the best ball of the day, holding the Boston Red Sox to five hits and beating them, 5 to 2. Lamar drove two runs across with a homer in the first. Howard Ehmke, Boston pitcher, and Al Simmons, Athletics outfielder, nearly came to blows after Simmons was hit by a pitched ball. Teammates protested. The Chicago White Sox scored their second straight victory over Cleveland, 3 to 2, with Lyons and Connolly doing the pitching. Smith made an exceptional bid for his game by driving across both of Cleveland's runs.

Detroit and St. Louis staged a nip and tuck contest with the Tigers the victors, 3 to 2. Lyons and Sledge hit home runs for the losers but bunched hits for three runs in the first and again in the sixth gave the Tigers the edge.

Six dual meets have been arranged by Coach Herbert Mundhenke for the Lawrence college tennis college team. Three of these will be held here and the remaining three will be played away from home. The Lawrence team has not been definitely lined up yet, but an elimination tourney which is being conducted this week will result in the final choice within the next few days.

One of the big events on schedule is the state college tennis tournament which is to be held here on May 17, 18 and 19. The schools which will send teams to the tourney include those which Lawrence will meet in individual game as well as the service. Midwestern and Northwestern colleges.

Oskosh Normal was scheduled to open the season with a game here on Saturday, but the wet condition of the courts made it necessary to postpone the game indefinitely. The schedule as it now stands is:

May 8—Appleton 1, W. C. A. (here)
May 10—Milwaukee college (here)
May 15—Eaton college (there)
May 17—Lawrence college (there)
May 21—Oskosh Normal (there)
May 22—Ripon college (there)
May 25—Milwaukee college (there)

NATS USE 20 MEN
BUT LOSE BATTLE

Washington—Manager Stanley Harris of the Senators used nearly everybody but the bat boy in a game played between the Yankees and the Nationals here the other day which the Griffs lost.

Harris used 20 men during the proceedings. Three got into the lineup as pinch hitters. Five pitchers were turned loose, two catchers, two second sackers, two center fielders, and two light fielders.

Rice, Blum, Judge and Meyer were the only starting players to finish.

Eddie Rowen, Sharon, was disqualified in the sixth round of the bout with Ed McNoughton, Montreal.

DOESN'T USE GLUE, EITHER

George Asutier, noted tennis professional, doesn't need a basket to carry balls around in—not when he's capable of holding 13 of them in one hand, as shown in the above picture. Tennis balls are fairly large and grasping 13 is quite a feat. If you don't think so, just try it some day. Asutier can serve a pretty speedy ball across the net while holding nine balls. There's another little stunt you may like to endeavor to emulate.

HELPFUL HINTS
GOLFING STARS

CECIL LEITCH—SHOULD KNOW RULES

In the semi-final round of a match play tournament for club teams the result depended upon the last match which was carried to the nineteenth hole. Here A played her opponent's ball after the tee shots and thereby immediately lost the hole under Rule 20. Neither player, however, knew the rule and they proceeded to play out the hole. B having dropped another ball, and the result was a win for A. It was then pointed out that this could be regarded as the "serving of a penalty" and would mean the disqualification of both players, and this would leave the contest between the two teams undecided.

The affair was eventually settled by the two players replaying the nineteenth hole. B won this, which was perhaps entirely satisfactory, as the penalty incurred by A should have been claimed at once.

While it is always unpleasant to have to claim a penalty, CECIL LEITCH would be much easier for all concerned if every player were to become conversant with the rules.

Were this so the offender would immediately admit the penalty and the opponent would be saved embarrassment.

CHUTE TEAM WINS
VALLEY LEGION
PULLING HONORS

Beats Appleton Tug Squad, 1925 Champs, in Finals at Cook Armory Friday Night

Unable to stage a comeback in the final pull of the Fox river valley American Legion tug of war championship held Friday evening at S. A. Cook armory, Neenah, under the auspices of the James A. Hawley post, the team representing the Oneida Johnstons, of Appleton, lost the final pull of the evening and the valley title for 1926 to the Jacob Cuppus post of Little Chute. In the preliminary pull, Appleton encountered Neenah, one of the strongest teams entered in the event and was forced to pull nearly the entire time of the event, 20 minutes, before winning that crew. Little Chute hit an easy foe in Oshkosh, whom they outpulled in about three minutes.

Then the Appleton men, who had been forced to battle so hard in the opening round met an almost fresh Chute crew and though Coach Saez's boys battled hard the result was never in doubt after the first few minutes. The Chuters, who lost to the local crew by 4 1/2 inches in the final pull last year, thus giving Appleton the 1925 title, won in about eight minutes when Appleton had "nothing left". Neenah, Appleton's first foe of the evening, had taken the title in 1922, the first year of the meet, and 1924. Appleton won last year and Little Chute this year. To win the silver trophy, a team must win for three years, so that Neenah still has a slight lead. Little Chute had an extra-strong team this year.

Members of the valley championship team.

Theodore Oudenhoven, captain Harry Vanderveld, Theodore Lamers, Ed Lindenberg, Henry Van Roy, John Lamers and George Van Berkel, coach. Appleton's squad was Frank Van Rossum, Victor Penfield, Walter Minshall, Thomas O'Neill, Seth Swanson, DeBruin and C. Bartz, coach.

Neenah used John Christian, Frank Douglas, Al Witt, Chris Peterson, Joseph Kuehn, Ed Poath and John Meyer, coach.

Oshkosh had Harold Price, Owen Procknow, Arthur Dudley, Harry Kramer, Donald Gallentine, Joseph Schonberger and Frank Berg, coach.

KIMBERLY NINE IN PRACTICE BATTLE

Kimberly's entry in the Fox River Valley Baseball League, will hold its first practice game Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the managers hope to get a line on material for this year's team. A team from Appleton will furnish opposition for the locals. All players who are interested in trying out for the team, has been asked to report for practice Sunday. Regular practices are being held at 8 o'clock on Tuesdays and Fridays. But almost every night a group of from 15 to 20 players work out. Kimberly includes the territory surrounding this village for outfield positions while a number of veterans are being forced to limit to hold their own with young players in the infield. Dean Vandeloop, Lamers and Vanderstein look like the prospective hurling staff.

ORANGE SQUEEZE FIVE
BEATS CHUTE BANKERS

Appleton's Orange Squeeze curls of Koester took the Little Chute Bankers into camp two games of a pin match rolled Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, taking the match by 35 pins. P. Koska of the Bankers was the star of the battle shooting high game of 210 and high series of 521. A 204 by M. Tornow was high game for the girls and a 503 by E. Dunn was high series. No other 200 marks were chalked up.

The men got off a nice lead in the opener taking the game by 55 pins but they failed to take another tilt. The second game went to the girls by 89 pins to put them just 16 to the rear and the final spurt netted them a 41 pin margin and the match.

American Loop Players
Lead In Stickwork But National Hurlers Star

Goose Goslin Slams Pill for .440 Pace to Lead Loop; Hornsby Tops N. L.

Chicago—(AP)—The hitting in the majors is being done by American League players and the most perfect pitching records so far this season belong to fingers in the National circuit.

What the connection is, if any, the league records don't show, but they do reveal that individuals and teams are pounding them out with considerably more success in the American and that there are more pitchers with perfect records to date in the National than in the junior league.

The New York Yankees lead the American club batting standing with the only above 300 percentage in the big leagues, .338. Cleveland is next with .283 and five other teams in the circuit are averaging .250 or better. In the National, the .283 of the Phillies tops the averages. New York is second with .282 and two other clubs are above .250.

"Goose" Goslin, Washington's centerfielder, has popped into the picture with a hit percentage of .440 to lead all the players who have been in 10 or more games. Four other American players in that many contests are hitting .400 or better and 22 others have percentages of .300 or above, records for the season through last Wednesday's games.

The National's individual batting honors continue in the possession of Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis manager, having slipped a bit from his starting average for a present one of .438. Sam of Philadelphia is hitting .404 and 14 National players in 10 or more games have percentages of .300 or above.

The slugging became heavier during the second week of the season, more of the bingles going for extra bases. To date 1,032 hits have been made in the American, 235 of them for extra bases including 44 circuit drives. National players have hit safely 925 times, including 250 extra bases.

There have been homers, Babe Ruth and Pat Collins of the New York Americans each had three four-baggers at the end of the second week of the season and Williams and Fournier, the former of Brooklyn in the National, had equal records. Several men in each league made as many as two home runs.

Frisch of the Giants led the canvas thieves, with five stolen bases in the first two weeks. Mueller of the St. Louis Nationals and Rice of the Senators trailing with four pilfered sacks each.

Among the pitchers, Peity of Brooklyn, "Red" Lucas of Cincinnati, Keen of St. Louis and Rhem of St. Louis finished the opening weeks with three games won and none lost in the national play. Thirteen other fingers had perfect records, although in fewer games. Reuther of Washington was the only American pitcher with four championship holes that was to have a decisive influence on the result of the match.

At the time, if memory serves, Oumet was one down going to the thirteenth hole, a short hole much after the pattern, by the way, of the one at Pasadena where Hagen and Jones got the business end of the match.

Oumet's tee shot was dead to the pin, less than three feet away. Marston was wild. Some say it hit a Boy Scout, patrolling the green, and thus kept the ball from going into a sand trap.

At any rate when the Philadelphia putted he stood with one foot in the rough. He was that far away from the cup. It was probably as much of a surprise to him as to everybody else when the long putt dropped, after an undulating journey, over the dips and swells in the green.

I can still see Oumet's head snapping back as he watched his rival's putt. He was especially nervous, such was the effect on his nervous system. And when Oumet, called the surest putter among the amateurs, tried to drop the dinky little three-footer that faced him he MISSED!

Marston's long putt had whipped him. He lost the next hole, became three down, and in short order was eliminated.

In New York City was regarded as pitcher and pinchhitter. McGraw later, especially in the last two holes, although Jack when he joined the Giants, expressed a preference for playing regularly, either in the outfield or at first.

First base has always been his choice. It is at this position that Manager Fletcher of the Phillies intended to use McGraw. McGraw was to see if Fenwick can continue his good work as a batsman when used in every game.

Larry Benton, Braves' star hurler, dropped a tough hit to the Giants the other day. Benton allowed but one hit, a home run, until the ninth. He then weakened, however, Mo'Grans boys slamming in a pair of runs, winning, 3-2.

WANTS BIG BATTLE

New York—(AP)—The New York state athletic commission Friday paved the way for a heavyweight championship fight here by declaring Jack Dempsey eligible and by granting Tex Rickard a license to conduct open air boxing shows at the Yankee stadium.

IRON NERVE AIDS
WALTER HAGEN IN HARD GOLF TILTS

King of Links Leads All Rivals in That Quality; Putting Incidents Show Nerve

BY JOE WILLIAMS

St. Petersburg, Fla.—I was watching Bobby Jones play Walter Hagen in their historic match out at Pasadena a few weeks ago.

The Georgia amateur had finished the first half of the match eight down, was laboring under a gigantic handicap. Yet he was at least left the chance that belongs to a man who refuses to admit defeat.

They halved the first hole. Jones got his par four at the second but Hagen dropped a 50-footer from the edge of the green for a birdie three to become nine up. The third was halved in five. This brought the players to the first short hole on the course, a one-shotter 140 yards long and ferociously trapped. They both got home with their mashies. Jones was away. A mighty cheer went up when his 40-foot putt raced on a bee line for the hole and dropped for a two.

From 35 feet away, himself, watched the white egg glitter through the early Florida morning sunshine and disappear into the can. With his lips fixed in a half smile, he calmly sighted his ball, studied the roll of the green and putted. His ball dropped, too, and the hole was halved.

"You've breathed God over for you," breathed Gil Northolas, the veteran pro, who stood watching the procedure over my shoulders.

And it is. No athlete in any line of sport has the competitive spirit developed to a higher pitch than the Rochester German, who has climbed from the caddy ranks in the national amateur's greatest golfer, amateur or professional, or what have you?

Watching Hagen and Jones play on this particular green, I was reminded of a day at Flossmoor when Max Marston sank a putt from the far corner of the green to win a hole from Francis Oumet in the national amateur championship. A hole that was to have a decisive influence on the result of the match.

At the time, if memory serves, Oumet was one down going to the thirteenth hole, a short hole much after the pattern, by the way, of the one at Pasadena where Hagen and Jones got the business end of the match.

Oumet's tee shot was dead to the pin, less than three feet away. Marston was wild. Some say it hit a Boy Scout, patrolling the green, and thus kept the ball from going into a sand trap.

At any rate when the Philadelphia putted he stood with one foot in the rough. He was that far away from the cup. It was probably as much of a surprise to him as to everybody else when the long putt dropped, after an undulating journey, over the dips and swells in the green.

I can still see Oumet's head snapping back as he watched his rival's putt. He was especially nervous, such was the effect on his nervous system. And when Oumet, called the surest putter among the amateurs, tried to drop the dinky little three-footer that faced him he MISSED!

Marston's long putt had whipped him. He lost the next hole, became three down, and in short order was eliminated.

SUBJECTS ASKED TO BUY AT HOME

English Profer American Made Typewriters to Native Product

London—(AP)—The "buy British goods" campaign, which King George and other members of the royal family have sponsored enthusiastically, has affected the house of commons.

To the dismay of the leaders of the campaign, it was discovered that for years, the cigars sold in the restaurants of Parliament have been imported from the United States. Future supplies are to be obtained from Jamaica or other British possessions. British empire wines, from Australia and South Africa, also are to be placed on the restaurant wine cards.

The British government, however, does not seem to be able to get along without American typewriters, and does not take very seriously the charge that it has done injury to British manufacturers by buying several thousand machines of American make. Even the Kings' explosive remark, "scandalous," when he was informed that the British industries fair by a representative of a British typewriter firm that the government was buying American machines in preference to British, does not appear to have greatly affected the situation. After this incident, the question came up in the house of commons.

"And what," thundered an opposition member, "are the 24,700 foreign-made typewriters in government offices used for?"

"For typewriting," was the government spokesman's quiet reply.

Markets

TRADING IS SLOW ON WALL STREET

Marked Tendency for Lower Prices; Speculate Mainly on Short Side of Market

New York—(AP)—Stock prices drifted irregularly lower in Saturday's dull trading but with the exception of a few specialties no points of pronounced weakness were apparent. Speculative activities were confined mainly to the short side of the market.

et with the drying up of the recent demand for United States steel, General Motors and other leaders. The closing was heavy. With the volume of trading sharply curtailed the total sales fell below 500,000 shares.
